Danger Signals Raised as Board Votes 80% Tenure Rate for Teachers

How many teachers in a public school system should be on tenure? Princeton's school board voted 6-1 Tuesday night to have about 80-85 percent of teachers on tenure, as a general guideline, with a long-range goal of 75 percent. The lone nay-sayer was board president Hannah Fox.

"I oppose this strongly," said Superintendent Philip E. McPherson. The president of the teachers association (PREA), William Bux, read a letter threatening legal action if the measure passed, and the schools' administrators have unanimously viewed the idea with "grave concern" as "undesirable."

"The board isn't very happy with this," was the gloomy comment of board member George Fitzgerald. He reminded the audience that Princeton has more teacher applicants than jobs; that the percentage of faculty on tenure has jumped from 50 to about 80 percent in five years and is pushing toward 100 percent.

A teacher in New Jersey receives tenure after three full years in a school system. After that, the teacher can't be fired. In an hour-long discussion, everybody said Princeton wants the best teachers. How do you get new blood if all the teachers on the staff have tenure? What young teachers will sign on, knowing the boot may come no matter how good they are at teaching, because the percentage has been reached?

Study Preceded Motion. Mr. Fitzgerald's motion was the result of a study made by him and two other board members, Gail Pietrinferno and Judith Getis. His measure also reuires the superintendent to provide by January 1, a list of people whose next contract will give them tenure, with a full typed page of evaluation. He must also give the board a school system profile, showing who's on tenure and when various retirements can be expected.

Hoping for compromise, Mrs. Fox proposed an amendment wiping out the percentage guidlines. She was voted down, 6-1.

Mrs. Pietrinferno explained that the percentages represented only a broad goal and didn't mean a principal could not hire a good teacher when he saw one. When Mrs. Getis asked whether the PREA saw a high tenure percentage as a problem, Dr. McPherson promptly said no.

"Hiring is risky," observed PHS principal George Petrillo. "I'd hate to reject a really good teacher reluctantly, and then have to take on a risky newcomer" .

To which Mrs. Doig retorted, "With 100 percent of teachers on tenure, you could get a crackerjack and not be able to keep him because you don't have room"

Mr. Cook assured the board, incidentally, that it was acting uite within the law, despite the PREA letter.

Equipment Bonanza. At the sealed-bid auction of private and parochial school equipment, Princeton picked up $37,803 worth of equipment in 15 lots ("We bid on 25, but lost 10," the superintendent reported.)

A letter to Dr. McPherson from the pastor of a parochial school cbided Princeton for taking equipment from ghetto schools. Stung, the superintendent replied on Tuesday night that he's been conferring with some schools that bid unsuccessfully on their own equipment and is negotiating to sell back some of it. He acknowledged the needs of private and parochial schools and added that "ghetto problems are larger than these bids."

Winthrop Pike, board member, said Princeton got some "real bargains," including $1500 microscopes "for one-tenth the cost. We couldn't have afforded them otherwise."

To an audience question, Dr. McPherson explained that the money spent this year, will mean a reduction in next year's budget.

The bidding for private school equipment is an outgrowth of a Federal court decision that New Jersey's aid to non-public schools is unconstitutional. The state was ordered to remove by October 31 all state-purchased items in private schools.

Salaries Ratified. In other matters, the board ratified the salary agreement with the PREA, and heard that the Human Relations Committee will make its final report in November

The board unanimously agreed to give extra-pay-for-extra-service (EPES) to the teacher who works in choreography for high-school musical productions. Mrs. Pietrinferno protested that students themselves should do the creating and Constance Vieland, who directs staff developments, suggested this be written into the job description.

The board agreed to authorize application for Federal money to pay half the salary of a teacher to supervise the expanded Co-operative Office Education program. The teacher would supervise the students on their jobs.

Virginia Euell, principal of the Middle School, reported that families of three students "convicted" of lancing the tires of 42 bikes, will foot the bill. "We are having a preventive discussion at the school on Thursday," said Miss Euell calmly.

COME TO THE SQUARE. . .

"Art People Lunch Hours." Wednesdays at 12:15 are now Art People Lunch Hours at the Palmer Square Tiger. The new lunch-time programs will continue through the fall, and maybe into the Christmas-carol season.

Next Wednesday, October 31, it will be Betty Ruth Curtiss making jewelry while you watch. Future Wednesdays will have musicians of all kinds (this week's was a folk-singer), and other craftsmen.

It's an autumnal extension of Summer in the Square, sponsored by the Arts Council of Princeton for the relaxation and enjoyment of the whole town. As autumn moves into winter, events will be chosen according to the weather, and when Christmas comes, the town will probably be treated to carolers and such.

Anybody who wants to make jewelry, sing, act or otherwise contribute talent to an Art People Lunch Hour should call Borough Hall (924-3119) and ask for Borough Council member Barbara Sigmund or Anne Reeves.

"Community." Mrs. Reeves is president of the Arts Council, whose members gathered earlier this month to plan Art People Lunch Hours and talk about community events that might replace the spring Art People Party. Not that the Party has been abandoned — although indications are that it has been. "It was a little junky," Mrs. Reeves admits — but simply that a leisurely, strolling community "fair" is a nice kind of thing to have.

One idea at the moment is an Elizabethan "Leisure Fair" like the one just ended at Columbia, Maryland: madrigal singers, jousting, horseback riding, Elizabethan food — the works.

"To further a sense of community," is the philosophy of the Arts Council, and any projects the Council thinks up reflect that idea. Right now, the Council's project is $200 in seed money to the Princeton People's Yellow Pages, the non-profit directory that will contain information on everything from where to take a pleasant autumn walk to where you can get free compost. The $200 is clearly labeled "seed money" so that it can be repaid in time for some other community project to receive booster money.

Arts Council members include such organizations as the Princeton Folk Music Society, Trinity Church, the Aparri School of Dance, the Princeton Ballet Society, the public schools, the Princeton Opera Association, the Historical Society, the public library, the Friends of Music at Princeton, and individuals. Dues finance seed money loans, and the Council's other projects.

Campaign Issues

the elderly, and he'd like to see the Borough acquire University owned houses on Nassau.

History to Be Served. Designating Princeton as a Federal "historic district" is the chief Pols Penick plank, and the candidates think such a designation would help defend the town against state plans to widen Route 27 (Nassau Street and formerly the King's Highway) to a four lane highway. "This proposal was rejected by Borough Council in secret," Mrs. Penick declares.

It is Mr. Pols' observation that "traffic leads to deterioration of neighborhoods and streets," and Mr. Lombardo says traffic safety is the "number one issue" among people he's talked to.

Traffic brings a parking garage to mind, and the four candidates all want to know more. Mrs. Penick favors one, but wonders whether it might not simply bring more traffic into town.

Mr. Moore says he just isn't prepared yet to say, and adds "Nobody really knows enough about it." Mr. Pols questions whether the town can afford one though he sees the need and suggests a modular one-story-at-a-time structure.

In Princeton, campaigns are usually run in a polite, almost courtly manner without public discussion of personalities. But in the Borough, Mr. Pols says the difference between Republicans and Democrats is one of broad outlook, versus narrow outlook.

He says Mr. Lombardo's work for the elderly, and Mr. Moore's racial concerns are too narrow. "The town has a broader range of concern than the interests of one segment of the community," is his observation.

Mr. Moore, commenting on his work with racial matters, says this is the first year in many when Princeton High hasn't had "a serious incident" at the start of the year.

Taxes Far Too High. Taxes? "People are desperate about taxes," Mrs. Penick has found, and ask how they can afford to stay here. She and Mr. Pols propose an official liaison from Council to the Mercer County Freeholders to watch where the Borough's county tax money goes.

Mr. Lombardo is pushing "zero budgeting," in which departments must start from scratch each year, and not be allowed simply to add on six percent.

Every candidate — and in this un-consolidated Princeton there are eight — finds that people don't quite realize the financial confrontation ahead, remodeling the high school, and paying for a regional sewer maybe at the same time. And it's a confrontation with questions no candidate can answer.

For one thing, nobody ever asks about sewers.

In the Township, where a one-year and a three-year seat are election-day prizes, Democratic candidate Bleiman emphasizes his interest in what he calls "the process of government — encouraging efficiency, getting more for our money, and making do with what we have."

The housing proposals of the Planning Board are "critical," he says, and he adds, "I want to promote the widest possible debate on how the community is to grow."

Mr. Bleiman says that in his three years' in office, he's had considerable experience in dealing with various levels of government — Mercer County, state agencies, Federal housing people — and he adds, that in dealing with the present Stony Brook Sewer Authority one of the most important things has been "how to deal politically and tactically with people who have different outlooks."

Housing is on Mr. Garretson's mind, too. While he sees the need to provide housing "for all who live here, or work here and want to live here," he's interested in "Princeton middle income" housing for those who will retire in the next decade or two.

He wants the Planning Board's housing proposals to make sure this group has a place to go, perhaps a full-service community in one of the "villages" proposed by the board. The candidate also wants more "back-up information" on how the board arrived at some of its population and economic data.

Liaison Is Vital. Mrs. Peterson, in her campaign, emphasizes the need for skill on Committee in dealing with other governments — county-Federal, state — and refers to her own professional experience working in these branches.

Meeting Favors Remodelled PHS Rather Than All New School

Princeton's school board probably won't recommend construction of a brand - new high school building, if comments made at last Wednesday's public discussion are a guide.

Board members will decide this December whether to build or renovate, and the public will probably be asked to vote in a spring referendum. Another public discussion, which will feature tours of the high school building, will be held Wednesday, November 7, at 8 p.m. at the high school. School board members are available to talk with community organizations upon request, President Hannah Fox has announced.

TOPICS Of The Town

The auditorium was almost filled for Wednesday's two-hour presentation. Many of those attending were high-school faculty and architects, people with considerable professional interest in which way the community decides to go.

The first questioner from the audience was Charles Cornforth, former Borough Council member who served as its finance chairman.

A "Staggering Burden." A new building would be "quite a staggering burden" on Princeton, Mr. Cornforth said, with controlled alarm. The $8-9 million estimate, he said, would carry the school board "perilously close" to its statutory debt limit, and including interest would actually come to about $14 million, over the probable 25 years of the bonds' life.

He estimated a loss to the town of $680,000 a year in taxes, and said the building would cost the Borough 21 tax points and the Township, 15.

At the onset of the evening, Mrs. Fox and other board members emphasized that the board hasn't made up its mind which of four options to opt for — a new budding or three degrees of renovation — and wants all the public input it can get.

For the rest of the evening, after Mr. Cornforth, so many in the audience spoke favorably of renovation, in one option or another, that one resident finally asked, "Well, are there ANY arguments in favor of a new building?"

Cost Comparison Sought. Mrs. Fox said the board had asked the consultant to provide figures on a new budding for purposes of cost comparison. "Renovation might have cost more than a new building," she observed.

Superintendent Philip E. McPherson told the questioner that PHS Principal George Petrillo and PHS faculty members have no "group leaning" toward a new building and he added, "I suppose the inconvenience you'd have during the remodeling process might argue for a new building."

Mrs. Fox also pointed out that if Princeton's population spurts up to 40,000 — a figure used in some reports — the present high school, even remodeled, would be inadequate. A new one could be designed for expansion.

One questioner chided the board for not having told the public, in the brochure mailed out to all residents, where a new school would be built. The site, known as the Foulet tract for its owner, is on Cherry Hill Road, approximately across from the Unitarian Church. It comprises about 60 acres. The present high school site is 23 acres.

Winthrop Pike, board member who made part of the presentation to the audience, said the board had just received estimates on possible proceeds from sale of the present high school, if the town decided to go the route of a new building.

Sale Price Estimated. He suggested that the high school building and, say, ten acres might be subdivided out and the rest sold for a condominium or houses. Sale price would probably be $2½ million, less than the Borough's appraisal of the land, he said.

If the property were sold, the Borough would rake in $300,000 yearly in taxes (it doesn't get anything now because schools don't pay a property tax). On the other

How Much?

Choosing a $40,000 house — "if such exists any more" — school board member Winthrop Pike estimated the amount of tax increase for Princeton taxpayers under the four Princeton High School options.

If a new school is built, the Borough home-owner would pay $94 more the first year of the bond issue (an average of $76 more a year, Mr. Pike estimated). The Township owner would pay $67 more the first year.

If the lowest option is approved, the Borough homeowner would pay $11 more, the Township owner $8 more.

Under the second option: $56 more in the Borough, $40 more in the Township; under the third option: $44 more in the Borough, $31 more in the Township.

Estimates assume 5 percent interest on a 25-year bond, with property values about the same and no anticipation of consolidation.

hand, the Township would then lose all the tax revenue from the Foulet tract. Estimates show the 60-acre site is worth about half a million, Mr. Pike said.

When one member of the audience asked about the current status in New Jersey of local funding for public schools, Mr. Pike and Dr. McPherson said state officials were telling local districts "not to sit around and wait for the state to pay for renovation."

Dr McPherson added that it was "inconceivable" that the state would provide any substantial aid for capital improvement, anyway.

Renovation Urged. One of the most eloquent spokesmen for renovating the present building was William Rhodes, now retired, who was principal of Princeton High School when the $1.75 million addition was made in 1955. He urged Option Number Four — the least expensive.

"How will actual education be improved with these options?" he demanded. "Why, with all the innovative teachers you've got here, all you need is Option Number Four and you'd have Mark Hopkins on the end of a log!"

That option, the board explained in its presentation, would only correct things that really have to be done like the hazardous ventilation. Dr. McPherson said officials are making inquiries to see whether the ventilation hazard can be temporarily corrected.

The ventilating system allows air-flow from classrooms to halls, so that in case of a classroom fire, corridors would be smoke-filled. This system is now contrary to national fire codes.

Another spokesman favoring renovation of the present building was William K. Selden, chairman of the 1970 Long-range planning committee for the schools. Like some of the other speakers, he declared that the present location for a high school "could not be surpassed."

"To construct a new building on the fringe of the present community would remove the school from near the center of the town," he said, pointing out also the schools' nearness to institutions like Westminster Choir College and the University, with their potential for "co-operative educational arrangements."

There Goes EDT

Kiss summer goodbye
On Saturday night —
Turn back your clock
And bundle up tight!

Daylight Time ends Sunday morning at 2 — and somewhere along this weekend, clocks should go back an hour.

With its departure, the mild weather, too, is about to leave. Skies will remain generally fair — in contrast to most other months this year. October rainfall is far below normal, and no heavy precipitation is in sight.

COMMITTEE FORMED

To Work For Impeachment. Some 150 Princeton University students and faculty members wasted no time Sunday night forming an Ad Hoc Committee to work for the impeachment of President Nixon in response to his actions in the Watergate affair. (For advertisements urging such a movie, see pages 6 and 37.)

The Committee decided to concentrate its efforts initially on the solicitation of telegrams to Congressmen, urging them to support moves toward impeachment in the House of Representatives.

A group headed by Lea Vaughn ('75) is planning to solicit telegrams in a room-by-room canvass of the University campus and at tables in Palmer Square and elsewhere in residential areas in Princeton and elsewhere is under consideration.

Other activities discussed at the meeting and under consideration for future action included solicitation of funds and signatures for advertisements in major national newspapers, the sending of students to Washington to discuss the issues with key Congressmen, and the holding of a Campus-and-community teach-in on the subject of impeachment of the President.

Anyone interested in information concerning the Ad Hoc Committee or wishing to aid its efforts should contact one of the members of the Steering Committee: Peggy or Peter Enrich (452-8477), Russell Randle (452-7668), Andrew Lindner (452-0272) or Steven Reisner (452-0658).

Funds are urgently needed to defray costs of advertising and office expenses. They should be sent to the Committee at 242 Princeton Inn College, Princeton.

Young Republicans Agree. The Princeton Young Republican Club also called for the resignation of President Nixon, or failing that, impeachment proceedings be considered by the House of Representatives. The club's statement was adopted unanimously by its executive committee.

"IMPEACH," SAYS BOHEN

To Congressman. Initiation of impeachment proceedings against President Nixon was urged this week upon Princeton's Congressman Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen by Princeton resident Frederick M. Bohen, who was defeated by the Congressman in the November 1972 election.

The open letter was written before the President's sudden decision on Tuesday to turn over the Watergate tapes to the court.

Mr. Bohen, a Democrat, told the Republican Congressman that he had been "among those who believed the country could be spared the trauma of the impeachment process." President Nixon's actions last weekend changed his mind, Mr. Bohen said.

Impeachment, defined by Mr. Bohen as an "extraordinary remedy," is necessary to clarify the President's involvement in Watergate; assure presentation of all evidence in the case, and reassure the country that "neither the President nor any other political authority can, in their own interest, defy the law or manipulate the legal process," Mr. Bohen declared.

BOROUGH MAN BURNED

In Mattress Fire. A 36-year-old Borough roomer was admitted to Princeton Medical Center Saturday afternoon for treatment of third degree burns of his arms and legs and smoke inhalation that he sustained when his mattress caught fire.

Hugh L. Harris, a roomer on the second floor at 240 John Street, was taken to Princeton Medical Center by Princeton First Aid Squad ambulance. He was pulled from his flaming mattress in his smoke-filled room by Roland Snead, a passer-by and volunteer fireman Tom Johnson, one of the first firemen to arrive on the scene.

spoon Street, told police that he was passing by when he saw smoke coming out of the second-story room. He entered the house and saw Mr. Harris lying in bed. The bed's mattress was in flames, he said.

He tried to enter the room but was driven back by the intense heat, smoke and flames. Meantime police had been alarmed by a telephone call and has issued a general alarm at 4:15. Together, Johnson and Snead managed to carry the victim from the room and extinguish the flames.

Police said that the fire was confined to the mattress. About a third of it had been burned. Some of the metal springs had collapsed from the heat, they added.

Ptl. William Hunter of the Borough's arson squad assisted in the investigation. He smoking in bed. Numerous attributed cause of blaze to cigarette butts were found scattered about the floor, police said, and Ptl. Hunter's investigation further revealed that the victim was smoking in bed when last seen about 3 p.m.

RENTS CAN GO UP

By 7.6 Percent. Princeton Borough renters with leases that expire December 1 may find themselves with a 7.6 percent increase in rent.

That's the rise in the Consumer Price Index for the month of September, as recorded by the rental monitor in Borough Hall. It means that the CPI is 7.6 percent higher than it was in September, 1972. It also represents .7 percent increase over August.

The office of the Borough's rent board will have a different telephone number and different office hours until further notice, announced Jane Kerney, office manager, this week.

The new number is 737-0671. The number may be called between 10 and 2 Tuesdays and Thursdays.

ROOMER IS ROBBED

Of $170 While Asleep. John F. Harris told Township police Saturday that someone had entered his second floor apartment at 16½ Leigh Avenue the night before while he was asleep and had taken $170 from a bureau drawer.

Police said that Mr. Harris's door was unlocked. Ptl. Mario Musso investigated.

Pocketbooks Taken. Two teachers at the Broadmead Nursery School located in the old Princeton Day School building on Broadmead reported their pocketbooks had been stolen Monday morning between 10:20 and 11:15. Combined, they lost $12, some change and credit cards.

Police report that the owners had left the pocketbooks in plain view in one of the rooms. They identified the victims as Kay Breese of West Windsor and Peggy Portnoy of Princeton. Ptl. William Potts investigated.

CYCLIST FINED $110

For Four Violations. Motorcyclist Mark R. Parsells, 20, 36 Princeton Avenue, was fined a total of $110 in Township Court last week, after he pleaded guilty to four violations.

Judge Philip Carchman fined him $60 for having no insurance and revoked his license for six months, $20 for wearing no goggles or helmet, $20 as an unlicensed driver driver and $10 for overdue inspection.

Gary F. Schuessler, 18, 102 Main Street, Kingston, paid $20 for careless driving.

100 BIKES REGISTERED

By Borough Police. During their bike registration program last week, Borough police registered more than 100 bicycles — increasing to approximately 1300 the number they have registered since starting the program.

Chief Michael Carnevale described it as an on-going program and invited anyone in the area to registered his bike with the police weekdays from 3 to 6 p.m. The program is being conducted by the police trainee student, Ted Stauffer.

"It's a good idea to call ahead first to make sure Ted is here," cautioned the Chief. Police also attach pieces of reflectorized tape to each bike they register to increase its visibility at night.

TO ENLARGE SCHOOL

At Dutch Neck. Plans for renovation and expansion of the Dutch Neck School were approved last week by the West Windsor-Plainsboro Regional Board of Education.

Included are a kindergarten wing with three classes, a media center, new kitchen and dining facilities, new administrative offices, a special education classroom and six additional classrooms. When the project is completed the school will accommodate 750 students. It now has 445.

Cost is estimated at $989,000. The plans were recommended to the school board by the Dutch Neck Project Task Force, composed of 16 community members, teachers, administrators and board members.

Rake Your Leaves

Borough leaf-rakers should prepare for the annual leaf collection, scheduled to begin Monday. Homeowners — or anyway, lawn rakers — are asked to place leaves on the curb and not in the street. When they're in the street, they are a dangerous enticement to children.

Monday's collection will be in the eastern part of town, from the Township line to Linden Lane and Princeton Avenue, on both sides of Nassau.

Tuesday's collection will be in the heartland between Linden and Chambers Street, on the north side of Nassau to Quarry.

Wednesday's collection will be made in the area north of Cleveland, Stockton, and Quarry with a western boundary along Library Place.

Friday's collection is in the area south of Cleveland and Stockton, bordered by Library on the east and the Township line on west and south.

ANNUAL FESTIVITIES SET

For Halloween. The Recreation Department and Chamber of Commerce have again planned an evening of fun for all Princeton children on Halloween.

All those planning to attend should gather in costume, at 6 p.m. in the Public Library parking lot for a march down Nassau Street behind the University band to the PHS auditorium. Prizes will be given in various categories, and a magician will perform. For more information, call 921-9480.

UNICEF Drive. Children will again have a chance to trick or treat for UNICEF on Halloween. Boxes to be used for collecting may be obtained through area schools or by calling Dean Reiche, 921-8389, or Jimmy Gorman, 921-6587. After the collection, boxes

SLICKER OUT-SLICKED: Ryan O'Neal as a slick con man in the '30's is no match for nine-year-old Tatum O'Neal in PAPER MOON, the comedy that also includes some rather tough scenes of the Depression now at the Playhouse and Montgomery Theatres.

PHOENIX COMING

With Two Plays. The new Phoenix Repertory Company will pay a visit to Princeton before it opens on Broadway, and McCarter has booked the company for Friedrich Duerrenmatt's "The Visit" on Thursday, November 1, and Georges Feydeau's farce, "Chemin de Fer" for Friday, November 2, both at 8:30.

"The Visit" was presented on Broadway several years ago with the Lunts. It's about a rich woman who returns to her small town birthplace in central Europe to revenge herself against those who had driven her away.

"Chemin de Fer", in a new English translation by Suzanne Grossmann and Paxton White head, takes place in Paris, of course, and in particular, this being Feydeau, in the bedrooms of Paris. Stephen Porter is directing.

"MOONWALK"

From NASA. Billed as "much more than a mere rehash of television newsreel footage, "Moonwalk One" is an attempt to blend science and philosophy, space flight as a public show and space flight as adventure. "Moonwalk One" will be shown at McCarter next Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The film was produced by and for NASA and is actually a feature-length documentary about the Apollo 11 moon flight. It draws on all official NASA footage and the work of 12 camera crews working at Cape Kennedy and around the world.

According to those who have seen it, the most awe-inspiring scene is the lift off, photographed by dozens of automated cameras from the launch tower.

TWO FOR ONE

A Pair, at Intime. "Balls" and "The Successful Life of 3" will be offered as a double bill by Theatre Intime in November production.

Two Princeton University freshmen will appear in the plays, Eben Pricefor "Balls" and Jill Smolowe in "The Successful Life of 3". Both have had previous theatrical experience.

They will be joined by Rob Beatty, a Princeton University junior who will be in "3" after a tour of Triangle Club; Doug Moltz, a sophomore who's been in previous Intime productions; plus Kathie Shenton, David Crabb, Arthur Miller and Eric Zwemer, whose places on the University ladder are not divulged in the press notice.

The two plays will be given November 8, 9 and 10 and the following weekend, November 15, 16 and 17.

TWO SHOWS SCHEDULED

At Princeton Inn College. The Princeton Inn College Theatre will present Gilbert and Sullivan's "Ruddigore" on November 8, 9, 10, 11, 15, 16, 17 and 18.

Written in 1887 following "The Mikado" in sequence, and therefore at the height of the authors' creative powers, the plot is a typical Gilbertian tangle of love interests: Richard Dauntless (Rick Hamlin) loves Rose Maybud (Bonnie Berkowitz), who in turn loves but loses Robin Oakapple (Stephen Schrist); Mad Margaret (Betty Ann Berry) loves and wins Sir Despard (Jon Rose). Because of unfavorable critical response at the original opening, a great deal of material was cut, including a love duet, a pattersong, a melodrama, several verses and some dialogue. However, in order to get the greatest effect of the play, director Cary Mazer has restored the cut material in its entirety.

The fall season will finish on a more serious note with Lillian Hellman's "The Children's Hour", currently going into production under the direction of Rik Johnson. Performance dates are November 29, 30, Dec. 1, 6, 7, 8

Both shows will begin at 8. Ticket reservations may be made by calling 452-0150.

GARDEN

The Harrad Experiment (thru Sunday) Based on the book by Robert H. Rimmer, which became a classic among the college crowd, the Harrad Experiment is part soft - core sex and part youth film masquerading as a fictional study of sexual mores. The resultant nudity interspersed with lectures is a bore.

In the sexual dictatorship of the Harrad Experiment, students are assigned roommates of the opposite sex and told they must live together for 30 days before switching partners. Nudity is not so much encouraged in class as demanded. The class is much more likely to be Advanced Yoga than English Lit.

Despite the control and care in enrollment, the students are about as stereotyped as a group as usual. Predicted pairings such as the resident stud with the campus virgin generate plenty of I'm-not-ready-yet scenes, which pad out the running time until the climatic capitulation.

James Whitmore and Tippi Hedren as the resident professor and his wife stand out only in that they get to keep their clothes on throughout. Not so the rest of the cast, which are motley enough in the buff that the clothing industry is the only one likely to enjoy this film. (R)

PRINCE

The Way We Were is a period piece that covers the mid '30s through the early '50s with a socko performance by Barbra Streisand and by Robert Redford for the ladies. When Barbra is on the screen the film comes alive. Her talent, huge already, seems to grow with every succeeding role.

The early period scenes are funny and evocative. Miss Streisand, determined, humorless, political activist and supporter of good causes, meets Redford in college in the mid '30s. Redford is the top campus athlete, blond, talented and has a roadster. Barbra calls him "America the Beautiful."

The movie, adopted from a novel by Arthur Laurents, falters when it follows the couple, now married, to post-war Hollywood. Redford, a talented writer, has sold out for commercial but second-rate success. Continuing to fight fascism, Barbra becomes a target of a House Un-American Activities Committee's investigation.

As a result, "The Way We Were" is one of the few films to exploit the Red scare of the early 50s engineered by Joe McCarthy, but as a plot device it doesn't come off. In short, the first half of the film has some historical and nostalgic value but the latter part is a sellout.

Need to Forget Your Problems? See Intime's Two Comedy Hits

Cheers and packed houses would be appropriate ways in which to greet the opening of Theatre Intime's new season. The particular cause for rejoicing is a bill of two short plays "Adaptation" by Elaine May, and "Next" by Terrence McNally.

The launching of a new season is as good a time as any to say a few things about Theatre Intime as a theatrical institution. Few of the customers who have been flocking to Hamilton Murray Theatre in growing numbers over recent years probably are aware that the group was begun by university students more than 50 years ago; that it has been managed totally by students since that time; and that this combination of independence and longevity makes it almost unique on American campuses. The experience gained through being responsible for every angle of theatre management has had much to do with the quality of spirit Intime achieves year after year; it also explains why so many Intime graduates have succeeded on the professional stage.

This being so, it is profoundly disturbing to hear that Theatre Intime's right to manage its own affairs may be in jeopardy. It is to be hoped that the powers that be in the University will think twice before writing "finis" to a tradition that has been a credit to Princeton for half a century.

Satire at Its Best. To get back to "Adaptation" and "Next."

In the first play, life is reduced to a TV game played on a checkerboard floor, in which a Contestant moves from square to square at the bidding of the Gamesmaster, hoping in vain to reach a hidden Security Square. His confrontations with the world through babyhood, puberty, family, school, career, marriage, fatherhood and final collapse are depicted in quick scenes hilariously composed of soap-opera sentiments ("I'm glad we had this talk, son. Hang on to your youth before the rat-race gets you"); wisdom of the market place ("I want you to go to college to make contacts"), and psychiatric jargon ("You are having an identity crisis. Go to your nearest Isolation Square.").

The play is very funny and more than a little wise. It is broad satire at its best.

The four actors, who among them play at least 30 different characters, are excellent in the deadpan enthusiasm with which they leap from part to part and keep the fun stirring. Brian Kremen, the poor little average man who never gains his Super Bonus Card, is delightfully serious as life continually puzzles or outwits him.

Eric Zwemer, as the Gamesmaster, gleefully enjoys the Contestant's dilemmas, and also doubles and triples in other roles. Kim Myers, playing all the female parts, is a quiet actress with a gift for the sudden, crushing one-line rejoinder. James Horton, a newcomer to Intime, takes on fourteen assorted identities and displays considerable versatility in dialect and characterization.

A Gem of Laughter. "Next" proves to be a little gem of laughter. A 48-year old assistant manager of a movie house, overweight and hardly the military type, has unaccountably been called for a physical examination at an army induction center. The examining sergeant is a woman.

I shall not try to itemize the humiliations, the agonies, the ruses with which Marion Cheever meets, while attempting to escape, his ordeal. The situation is funny, the stage business is appropriately realistic, and the ceontrast between the grimly practical sergeant and her voluble victim is marvelously comic.

MUSIC
In Princeton

SERIES II TO OPEN

With Brandenburg Ensemble. Series II of the Princeton University Concerts will start with the Brandenburg Ensemble, Alexander Schneider, Conductor, and Peter Serkin, piano soloist. The concert will be held Monday at 8:30 in McCarter Theatre.

In the Vivaldi-Bach program, Mr. Serkin will perform the Piano Concerto No. 1 in D Minor by Bach. Other featured soloists will be violinists Hiroko Yajima and Kishiko Suzumi in Vivaldi's Concerto in D Minor for Two Violins, and Renee Siebert, flutist, in Vivaldi's Concerto in C Minor for Flute and Strings. Other works on the program will include three Vivaldi concerti, and the Brandenburg Concerto No. 6 by Bach.

The Brandenburg Ensemble, founded by Frank Salomon, is a newly-formed chamber orchestra under the direction of Alexander Schneider. It brings together some of the country's finest concert artists and chamber music players, and each season presents outstanding young soloists and programs. Mr. Schneider, a well known violinist, has performed at all the great music centers and was the founder of the Casals Festival in Prades and Puerto Rico, the Israel Festival, and has been a principal figure at the Marlboro Festival in Vermont for many years.

At 26, Peter Serkin has been acclaimed as recitalist, chamber music performer, and recording artist. He is a graduate of the Curtis Institute of Music where, among others, he studied with his father Rudolf Serkin.

Hiroko Yajima, violinist, has appeared with major orchestras and has participated in the Casals and Marlboro festivals. She is a member of the Galimir Quartet and appeared with them in Princeton. Kishiko Suzumi, violinist, made her New York debut in 1971 with the New York String Orchestra in Carnegie Hall. She has made frequent concert tours throughout the United States.

Renee Siebert, flutist, has played solo concerts in New York's Tully and Carnegie Recital Halls. A participant at Philip Raskin scores a solid hit as the put-upon Cheever. His bubbling humor and his ability to talk on and on without a trace of monotony win the audience to him.

The businesslike Sergeant Thech of Elizabeth Simpson is an admirable foil for Cheever. Moreover she deserves an extra bar on her good conduct medal for being able to keep a straight face through all of Mr. Raskin's antics.

Robert M. Schmon, Jr., who directed both plays, has a good hand with comedy. He has succeeded admirably in blending the absurd with the natural.

The program gives the names of 20 separate persons who have done 28 different jobs in the technical preparation of these plays. This statistic bears out what I said in the second paragraph of my review, that Theatre Intime has developed both organization and dedication in its rise to the position of a first-class university theatre.

"Adaptation" and "Next" will continue at Murray Theatre — this Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

SUBURBIA

Albee Peers Inside. In "Everything in the Garden," Edward Albee explores what one critic has called "outer suburbia," and if that's Princeton, the Community Players' production will probably make it perfectly clear.

The "bitter, cynical and fascinating comedy" — critical prose again — will open November 9 and will play again November 10 and 11 and the following weekend, November 15, 16 and 17. Allan R. Pierce is directing. In his cast are Rosemarie Areieri, George Cockcroft, Allan Salkin, Paula Barcless, John Wible, Susan Zimmerman, Jean Delgado, Steve Levy, Kathy Zox, Loyal Watterworth and Robert Cromwell.

PLAYHOUSE, MONTGOMERY

Paper Moon. An enjoyable tale of a slick con man and his nine-year-old tagalong who turns out to be shcker than he is. Fine performances by Ryan O'Neal as the con man and his real-life daughter, Tantum, as the tagalong set in the grim '30s and directed by Peter Bogdanovich.

O'Neal is a thirtyish conman with snappy shoes, dashing curly hair and topped off by a moustache that he thinks makes him look raffish. You wouldn't buy a used anything from him. But Tantum takes to him at once and sticks with him through thick and thin. And so worldly wise despite her nine years.

When, for example, he uses her orphaned status to swindle a banker out of $200, she bides her time. Later in a crowded restaurant she looks him in the eye and says in a loud voice: "Give me my $200."

This is not a redemption through fatherhood film but rather a tough, somewhat bitter study of scrape-along life in the Depression. Although the scenes are often funny, a few hilarious, a lack of joy and kindliness permeates. Indeed, at times the film is almost schizophrenic as it alternates between humor and grimness. No matter. Tantum is one of the best things to happen to Hollywood since Hayley Mills.

Are There Cracks in Marlboro's Perfection?

On a cool, gray autumn evening, a capacity audience filled 10 McCosh Hall Thursday evening for the first chamber concert of the season. It was the first of three Music from Marlboro musical events, this concert featuring chamber music for strings and piano.

The program included the Quartet in A Major, Op. 39 by Boccherini, the Quintet in G Major, Op. 111 by Brahms and the Piano Quintet in E Flat Major, O. 44 by Schumann. The artists, both established professionals and young newcomers to the Marlboro Foundation, were Pina Carmirelli and Michelle Makarki, violins; Philipp Naegele and Jennie Hansen, violas; Peter Rejto, violoncello and Lydia Artymiw, piano.

These Marlboro concerts have always been representative of the highest levels of technical proficiency and musicianship, but in the past season, cracks in the armor have made their appearance, and on Thursday evening, despite some excellent playing, these crevices widened a little more.

First of all, the program left something to be desired. The Schumann Quintet is welcome on any chamber concert (no matter how often it is performed) but the Boccherini, while fulfilling its formal in proper classical stylistic fashion, is not a particularly strong or inspired work, filled with excessive scales and arpeggiated passage work complete with formalized anthentic cadences at every phrase ending.

The Brahms Quintet, on the other hand, is much more inspired composition, but it is thickly textured, often more harmonic than contrapuntal and too close in idiom to the Schumann which followed, to provide the kind of musical contrast one comes to expect in concert programming.

Secondly, the playing of Ms. Carmirelli, so outstanding in the past, appeared mostly strident throughout the night. She so completely dominated her partners in the Brahms, that one thought the work should have been relitled "Concerto for Violin and String Quartet". The ensemble playing, taking its cue from Ms. Carmirelli's approach, perhaps, appeared to be forcing the sound, so much at times that the texture appeared coarse and occasionally unclear. Mr Rejto's cello tone was often obscured and some of the brilliant contrapuntal writing that does on occasion appear in the Brahms Quintet did not rise to the surface.

Indeed the best playing of the evening occurred in dialogues between Mr. Naegele (on viola) with Mr Rejto in the Schumann. So skillful was Mr. Naegele's bowing that one could not hear the break between the cello phrase and the beginning of the viola answer in the first movement of the Schumann Quintet.

On the other hand, young (pianist) Lydia Artymiw's approach to the phrasing was as mannered and overly precious as I have ever heard with respect to this work. Tempi variation was excessive and the ensemble seemed to be struggling to maintain its metric equilibrium. Miss Artymiw is a fine pianist basically, (all Marlboro, pianists generally are) but this over - romantized approach marred what otherwise would have been a beautiful performance. Also there was a tendency on the part of the pianist to attack the motivic portions of the music too strongly while the lyrical passages appeared almost feathery and submerged. Once again as earlier, Ms. Carmirelli's tone over-rode the other string members.

The best moments came in the second and third movements where the musicians finally seemed in syncrony. The audience thoroughly enjoyed the concert, and despite your reviewer's reservations, he left the hall with that warm feeling that the world of chamber music gives so frequently.

FOLK CONCERT FRIDAY

To Benefit Innisfree, Rich Kaufman, folk guitarist, will perform "Folk Songs I Like" this Friday at 8 p.m. in the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church. Dave Ressler will join him on bass guitar and recorder. The concert will benefit Innisfree, a group home for boys.

Mr Kaufman began his professional career in 1959 with the "Three Travelers" who performed "Folk Songs of the English Speaking People. He has performed at the Golden Vanity in Boston, The Bitter End in New York, the Second Fret in Philadelphia, The Blue Dog in Baltimore, and the Shadows in Washington.

Tickets will be on sale at the door for $2. Patron tickets are available for $20. For further information call (201) 359-5404

SERIES TO BE RENEWED

By Trinity and All Saints. Continuing a tradition now well established, Trinity and All Saints' Episcopal churches are again presenting a series of concerts and musical services, to run from November until May.

Eleven individual presentations are planned, including choral concerts by choirs of the particlpating churches, a program by the Gallery Wind Quintet of Temple University, and three other instrumental concerts, under the direction of Joseph Kovacs, Mr. Kovacs' group will give the first concert of the series, a program of concerti, on Sunday.

November 4, in Trinity Church.

Music lovers of widely varying tastes will be catered to during the course of the series. The music to be presented ranges from such favorites as Handel's "Messiah" (Trinity, in April) and Brahms' Liebeslieder Waltzes (All Saints', in March) to less familiar works by such twentieth-century composers as Hindemith and Bernstein. Faure is to be the featured composer in the November 18th program to be given by the Trinity Choir of Men and Boys and the Columbus Boy Choir of Princeton, and an Advent and Christmas concert on December 16 will include Bach's Cantata No. 10 and Scarlatti's "Salve Regina."

All concerts and services in the current series will be given on Sunday evenings at 8, either in Trinity Church on Mercer Street or in All Saints' Church on Van Dyke Road. Admission will be charged for only four of the concerts — those incurring the heaviest costs — while for all other programs, admission will be free, and an offering taken.

A full schedule of the series will be published shortly.

ORGANIST TO PLAY

In Recital Sunday. The Friends of Music and the University Chapel Music will cosponsor a recital by Susan Farmer '74, Organist at the University Chapel on Sunday at 3.

A senior at Princeton, Miss Farmer is majoring in French Literature. She began her organ studies at 13 with Robert Currier and is presently studying with Eugene Roan of Westminstr Choir Colleg. She has been Carl Weinrich's assistant for three years and is one of the University organists for the 1973-74 season.

The program will include works by J. S. Bach, Buxtehude, Cesar Franck and Jehan Alain. It is open to the public, admission free.

BARITONE TO SING

At Westminster Playhouse. Baritone Robert McIver will present a Faculty Recital at Westminster Choir College on Tuesday, November 6, at 8 p.m. Open to the public without charge, it will be held in The Westminster Playhouse.

Mr. McIver's program will include "Paratum cor meum," a cantata with two recorders, cello, and harpsichord, by Heinrich Schutz; "La Bonne Chanson" by Gabriel Faure; four songs from Gustav Mahler's "Ruckert Lieder;" and three songs by Dennis Shrock, a member of Westminster's conducting faculty.

Did you know that noise creates certain responses in your body! When the brain receives a signal from your own sound system that a noise has occurred, the brain goes about alerting the whole body and setting it on its guard. Repeated loud noise can be exhausting. It can also cause definite changes in body chemistry. It places a strain on the heart, prevents sleep, hinders convalescence. In essence, too loud a noise can be a torture, especially if it's repeated.

MEET THE CANDIDATES

In West Windsor. West Windsor citizens will have their only opportunity to meet all the candidates for local offices this Thursday. The West Windsor Unit of the League of Women Voters will sponsor a "Meet the Candidates" Night at the Maurice Hawk School on Clarksville Road, beginning at 8 p.m.

In addition to candidates for township committee and local tax offices, citizens running for seats on the Mercer County Charter Study Commission will be introduced and biographical information distributed.

A Resource Team of League members will be on hand to answer questions relating to West Windsor's new legislative district as well as the County Charter Study proposal.

PET SHOW PLANNED

Sunday at Chapin School. Pets of all sizes, shapes and colors will be on display at the Chapin School Pet Show Sunday from 2:30 to 4:30 at the school grounds on Princeton Pike.

Students of the Middle School have entered their dogs, cats, birds, insects, rodents, reptiles and fish. The more delicate pets, contained in cages and aquariums, will be shown in the gymnasium, while those of other categories will be on view on the soccer field.

LAWRENCEVILLE IS SITE

Of 56-Unit Subdivision. Carl M. Freeman Associates will soon open a 56-unit subdivision of semi-custom, luxury single-family homes in Lawrenceville.

Four model homes now under construction will be open for inspection late in October, according to Michael T. Rose, vice-president — marketing. The homes will be priced from the high $50,000s to the mid-$60,000s, and will range in size from four bedrooms 2½ baths to five bedrooms, three baths.

Called "Lawrence Woods," the new sub-division is located in a rural setting on Cold Soil Road, three-fourths of a mile north of Route 206. The site is easily accessible to shopping, the Lawrenceville School, state parks, tennis and golf facilities, and the research and industrial firms centered in the area.

All of the homes are two-story designs with solid poured concrete basements, double garages and large family rooms in addition to spacious formal living rooms. Three of the home models will have front porches along with rear patios.

Home features will include air conditioning, fireplaces, wood vanities with simulated marble tops, hardwood floors, and fully equipped kitchens with self-cleaning ovens and frost-free refrigerators.

Lawrence Woods is being developed by Carl M. Freeman Associates — New England, Westport, Conn., a subsidiary of Carl M. Freeman Associates, Inc., Silver Spring, Md. The firm has developed 40 communities, and has built more than 16,000 homes and apartments since 1967.

CANDY IS NEEDED

For NJNPI Patients. The Youth Council of the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross will sponsor a "Trick or Treat for NJNPI" Campaign on Halloween.

Children throughout the area will be soliciting candy to send to the New Jersey Neuro Psychiatric Institute at Skillman. The Institute has immediate need for all types of candy which they use for patients throughout the Institute, but primarily for those PENICK & POLS Think Your Taxes are TOO HIGH!

"We are determined to keep your taxes down while strongly supporting our People Programs!"

- By assuring open public discussion of the tax rate implications of every new program in Princeton Borough. You should know exactly how much each new proposal will raise your taxes.
- By questioning in a responsible way the operating expenses of every new capital project proposed by the borough. You should know exactly how much each program will cost to run and maintain.
- By changing Princeton's priorities wherever possible from optional road reconstruction to people and their needs.
- By scrutinizing Mercer County's rocketing taxes. Last year 31% of your local taxes went to the county. Your support of Mercer County's projects does not have to be open-ended!
- By appointing an official liaison between Princeton Borough Council and the Mercer County Freeholders, who will attend meetings, give a voice to Princeton priorities, and report to Borough Council and the public. We plan to make Mercer County fiscally accountable to YOU.

"Stag Evening" Protested.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is a copy of a letter I have sent to the Christmas Boutique Committee of the Princeton Medical Center:

I have just received the announcement for The Christmas Boutique. This is a worthwhile effort for a worthy cause.

I am astonished to see, however, that the dates and times that you have set will make it difficult or impossible for a substantial portion of your prospective customers to shop at the Boutique. I am speaking of the almost one-half of adult women who hold paying jobs, usually during conventional business hours. You have one evening shopping period, but you designate it for men only, for what obscure reasm I cannot fathom.

Can it be that you think all women are housewives? Or perhaps you are not interested in the employed woman's dollars?

Thousands of employed women would doubtless like to support your cause and shop at your boutique. If you expect to receive that support, you will either have to add more evening or weekend hours, or you will have to require the men to suffer the presence of females during what is now designated the "stag" evening.

Subtle Sex Discrimination.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Two statements in particular in the TOWN TOPICS lead article (October 4) on Princeton High School's "job skills" programs make me apprehensive that Federal funding is being used inadvertently but unallowably to support well-meaning incidences of sex discrimination at the school.

Barbara Silverstein, the head of Distributive Education, is quoted as "wailing," "If only I could find a boy interested in short order cooking! So many of these jobs are open! And it's a great way to work your way through college." And Frank Soda, Dean of the Faculty, in describing the one-semester courses for students not formally going into a trade, lists "a chef class for boys."

I hope, rather warily, that in accordance with the Vocational Education Act and with Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, the short-order cook jobs (among others) are open with equal encouragement to girls as to boys.

If it's such a good way to "work your way through college," then it's a fine way for girls, too (whose families sometimes finance their educations less enthusiastically than their brothers'.) I hope, too, that the waitressing jobs held at local restaurants could have been "waitering" jobs if interested male students had come along first.

Only rarely, where personal privacy must be preserved, such as in the YWCA job in which a girl "helps toddlers get dressed after swim class" (presumably in the women's locker room), may jobs in any way indicate that they are intended for one sex or the other.

Since the welfare of students and the protection of their legal rights must be a prime concern of our public schools, the outside agencies, organizations, and leagues with which schools deal should be required, by school policy, to sign equal opportunity commitments so that no student, on the basis of race, color, sex, religion, or ethnic or national background will be excluded from the opportunities available to other students at comparable levels.

I am deeply surprised that Princeton High School, considered by most standards to be relatively enlightened, continues to tolerate a "chef class for boys." At a time when at least half the workers in the kitchens of all sorts of institutions—colleges, hospitals, and indeed high schools—are women, that sex may not receive training in the public schools to enable them to become chefs.

It seems strange that the ultimate of courses in that almost unqualifiedly female area of high school life — Home Economics — is reserved for males only. Girls may learn to set tables properly, to serve with appropriate etiquette, and to cook for large families, but not to become chefs. Surely Home Economics can be revitalized so that an enticing variety of courses will attract both sexes without resorting to sex-segregation.

I am submitting this letter to TOWN TOPICS not to cause trouble for any program administrator, but rather to acquaint the public with long-accepted and highly tempting practices which are unintentionally unfair to students, which are indeed illegal, and which must, by any sense of justice, be eliminated in our publicly-funded schools.

Success Story.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Rummage Sale Committee of the Auxiliary of the Princeton Medical Center is exceedingly pleased to announce record-breaking sales at its semi-annual "Hospital Rummage Sale" this month. More important to us, however, is the gratitude we feel to the many, many people who made possible the over-all success — including customers, contributors, the community services, and all others who helped in so many ways to publicize this traditional event.

Not the least of these are the dozens of dedicated volunteer workers, male and female, youngsters and oldsters, who for all or part of four or five long days twice-a-year bend their energies toward serving the community and helping the Medical Center. Perhaps the most striking example two weeks ago of the spirit of social service and integrity, which can be, and often is, involved in this kind of work, is a direct result of a news item by local papers.

Some weeks ago you published a story of the remaining $15,000 owed of a recent pledge made to the Medical Center by the presently to-be-merged Hospital Aid Committee, a fund-raising organization since 1918 that for years ran the Rummage Sales.

And you published our urgent plea for "all former H.A.C. members, friends, and other volunteers" to join in helping this rummage sale raise funds necessary to fulfill the pledge this year. A long-term and now honorary member of the H.A.C., who was sorry herself not to be able to work at the sale, sent the news clipping to her young granddaughter in Connecticut who, with a few days free, drove right down to Princeton in order to give a full four days of her time to help us with our sale. And work she did! !

Needless to add, with people like these and so many others, the Hospital Aid Committee just might complete its pledge in 1973! Thanks, Margo Hand! ! Thanks, thanks to the scores who came in to work for the first time and the 20th time on a rummage sale! Thanks to all our grand customers, who know that recycling is smart; and thanks to the "myriad" of recycling contributtons without whom all is lost!

the Princeton Regional School System is to be commended for its approach to the high school building problem and for its attempt to solicit opinions from the community.

The report of its consultants is a well researched and useful document. In contrast to the 1971 report of the Long Range Planning Committee no detailed plans have been published, which makes it difficult for the public to compare the various options. Nevertheless some general comments can be made.

The present high school building has about the floor space required for the 1,000 pupil enrollment predicted for 1978. The building is structurally sound and can look forward to a long life.

However, it is quite clear that, in the words of the Long Range Planning Committee "the facility is inadequately designed for a modern, flexible educational program. Large and small group learning spaces are needed, and the library . . . (is) totally inadequate." Changes are clearly needed.

It seems to me that because of these facts and the unsurpassable location of the present school, its abandonment would be a waste of a valuable resource. The obvious advantages offered by a fully modern new building do not offset these facts and the considerably higher cost.

One of the alteration and addition options should therefore be undertaken to increase the quality of the existing building. Because of the lack of specific plans it is not possible to choose between options 2 and 3 or some intermediate option.

However, a centralized library facility (scheme 2A or the plan of the Long Range Planning Report) must be an essential ingredient as are plans for integral future additions, should they become necessary.

In conclusion I would suggest that the Board of Education work with an architect experienced in school alterations, keeping both educational and physical goals clearly in mind.

Crosstown Asks for Patience.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Dear Sir:

An interesting and potentially valuable new service has just commenced in Princeton. I refer to CROSSTOWN — 62, the newly-inaugurated plan for the transportation of the elderly. This is a plea for caution and a request for understanding.

The plan is limited to residents of the Borough and Township of Princeton and all transportation is confined to this area. Users must register and be 62 years of age or older.

The plan is being financed for a four month trial period with fund provided by the Borough and Township. The fee of 25c per ride, which is returned to the municipalities, is clearly a token.

The plan is being administered by the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross and thus the service is, in part, another service of the United Fund — Red Cross campaign now under way.

We seek patience and understanding for this new service because there is no previous experience on which to base judgments. It is designed to provide only for essential services for those who truly need it.

There is one station wagon operating, plus a driver and a coordinator to handle reservations and scheduling. Whether this personnel and one vehicle is sufficient or not, no one knows at this time.

During its first two or three months, complete records will be kept and recommendations will be made to the proper authorities. My plea is that those needing the service bear with us as we learn the ropes and make the inevitable changes.

Princeton deserves congratulations on having the courage to try out the idea. We all hope it works, but we expect some rough spots as we find our way.

Both Senator Schluter and Mrs. Anne Martindell were asked 9 key questions on important state issues by the Mercer County League of Women Voters. Both candidates responded without prior knowledge of their opponent's answers.

Here is an exact copy of the results of this questionnaire as published by the Hopewell Valley League of Women Voters.

QUESTIONS	SUPPORT	OPPOSE	COMMENTS
Do you support or oppose:
1. Expansion of highway system		WS AM	1. (WS) Emphasis should be placed on reconstructing present system, particularly Routes 31 and 206. (AM) I am opposed to further covering of the state with large super highways. Secondary roads that exist should be improved.
2. Additional state financing of mass transportation	WS AM
3. Increased state funding of schools by:			3c. (WS) New Jersey's confiscatory property tax must not be the major source of school revenue. I favor the tax reform program of 1972 after legislative refinements. Tax reform must be comprehensive, not piecemeal. Property taxes must be reduced. Reforms in welfare, business equipment sales tax, and uniform assessing are also essential. I oppose a classified property tax. Experienced, knowledgeable and responsible legislators must assert leadership to bring about true tax reform, free from debilitating and special interest windfalls and exemptions. (AM) Must be a constitutional guarantee for a rollback of local property taxes, and be a fair tax so that corporations pay their share and there must be no loophole.
a. statewide property tax		WS
b. income tax		WS
c. combined statewide property and income taxes	WS
d. increased and/or expanded sales tax		WS
4. State takeover of welfare costs	WS AM
5. Strong land use regulation	WS AM		5. (WS) Providing such regulations protect the constitutional rights of individuals and communities. (AM) We must plan the orderly development of our district, increasing commercial possibilities where suitable. Large developments must not be allowed to take advantage of reduced farm assessment, yet farmers must be able to make a living.
6. State intervention in housing supply	WS		6. (WS) Through present agencies (Housing and Urban Renewal and Urban Loan Authority) and by encouraging voluntary community programs. (AM) With the enormous need for housing for many groups, especially senior citizens and young families, there should be guidelines from the state.

WS – William Schluter
AM – Anne Martindell

(WS indicates position of Senator William Schluter, AM indicates position of Mrs. Anne Martindell)

There are 4 questions where Mrs. Martindell does give her exact position–and she agrees completely with Senator Schluter.

NEW FEATURE FOR CHRISTMAS BOUTIQUE: Mrs. Roger B. Kirkpatrick, left, and Mrs. Charles P. Dennison display some of the items donated for the Silent Auction, a new event instituted this year at the Christmas Boutique. Sponsored by the Medical Center Auxiliary, the affair will be held November 6-8 at the Nassau Inn.

News Of Clubs and Organizations

STAG NIGHT PLANNED

At Christmas Boutique. Stag Night will be an added attraction to the annual Christmas Boutique at the Nassau Inn. From 5 to 8 on November 7, committee members, models, and sales people will be on hand to assist the male gift givers about to begin their Christmas buying.

Ten out-of-town concessionaires have been invited to bring unusual and interesting items. The shops include Au Bon Gout, The Baggage Room, Chipp, The Fidlehead, Gattle's, Jewels Fargo, La Bouttica, La Cocina, Rachel's and the Silver Needle. To give added impetus to the men to attend Stag Night, Orvis, with its fishing rods and sportsmen's gear will be there, too.

The Auxiliary will again have its Holiday Gourmet [illegible] with a luncheon bar called Sip 'N Snack and cranberry relish from the Cranbury Chapter. The Christmas Booth, also sponsored by The Auxiliary, will have original and artistic holiday decorations and specialties for tree and home.

New this year is the Silent Auction with more than "Fifty Fabulous Finds," many of which are collectors items, and vacation homes, available for renting, located in hide-away places in Keene Valley, Stowe, Vail for skiing, Barbados, Jamaica, Nantucket and Well Fleet for summering, and on the Greek Island of los in the spring.

The Christmas Boutique will be open November 6, 7 and 8. Admission is $1 and the proceeds all go to the Princeton Medical Center.

The Professional Roster Will have the second session of its workshop, "Do You Want to Go Back to Work?" at 10 a.m. this Thursday at 83 Prospect Avenue. Those who missed the first session are still urged to attend. An interest inventory designed to discover significant interest - patterns, not abilities, will be given. Individual appointments will then be arranged to discuss the results and vocational concerns. A fee of $3 will cover the cost of test materials.

Virginia Miller will be the speaker on Monday, November 5, at the West Windsor Garden Club. Meetings are held on the first Monday of each month at 7:45 p.m. in the Dutch Neck School cafeteria on Village Road East. Her topic will be "Dry Flowers."

Princeton Branch of AAUW: 7:45 p.m. Wednesday, November 7, at All Saints Church, Van Dyke Road. Dr. Saul Cooperman is Superintendent of Schools, Montgomery Township, and therefore can speak from experience for [illegible] Road School has open classroom study areas in grades four through six. Anyone interested in the program or in membership with AAUW is invited.

The Princeton Real Estate Group has nominated the following officers: John Houghton, Charles Martinette and Edward Faroe. A discussion of the group's constitution was led by James Pietrinferno, and changes will be voted upon at the next meeting. T. S. Peyton, president, stated that the code of ethics would also be fully discussed at that meeting. The Realtors have had an office beautification contest promoting interest in maintaining the attractiveness of the Princeton area; results will be announced.

Bennett College alumnae will entertain Dr. J. W. Nystrom, new president of Bennett, and Mrs. Nystrom at a coffee hour Wednesday, October 31, at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Samuel Lambert, 53 Hun Road. Dr. Nystrom will discuss changes in the curriculum and other aspects of student life. Parents of students and others interested are welcome.

Princeton Woman's Club will hold a fashion show and luncheon November 1 for the benefit of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad. Models for the club will be Mrs. Beverly Brown, Mrs. Ray F. Dawson, Mrs. Richard M. Dorian, Mrs. Frederick S. Klopp, Mrs. Edward L. McCabe, Mrs. Frank P. Reiche, Mrs. Carl H. Sjostrom, Mrs. Kenneth H. Stemkopf, Mrs. Bonsall Strong, Mrs. Frederick C. Wightman Jr., Mrs. Samuel M. Wilson and Mrs. Albert M. Zigler.

JAY BLEIMAN

ELLEN PETERSON

for Princeton Township Committee

EFFECTIVE - EXPERIENCED - QUALIFIED

JAY BLEIMAN, who has served Princeton Township as Committeeman and Police Commissioner for the past three years, is completing his first year as Mayor. It has been a busy and productive year, marked by significant improvements in budgetory procedures; outstanding nonpartisan appointments to boards and commissions; the addition of young, highly competent professionals to the Township administrative staff; the beginning of a promising new bikeway system; the creation of joint commissions with the Borough on consolidation and cable television; and a host of other, perhaps less visible but no less solid accomplishments. Jay, a retired Army Lt. Col. and currently a faculty member at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, looks forward to his re-election as "on opportunity to continue to improve the machinery of the Committee system to give the citizens of the Township the kind of open, responsive, and efficient local government they deserve."

ELLEN PETERSON, currently a consultant on special projects for Rutgers University, has already had a remarkably varied career in federal, state and local government. A graduate of Pennsylvania State University and Harvard Law School, she has served as a staff attorney for the U.S. Office of Civil Rights, as director of state legal services in the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs, and as a legal advisor to Governor Hughes. Before joining Rutgers as a counsel in 1972, she worked as project director of a major study commissioned by the New Jersey Courts. Ellen, now serving as chairman of the Township Board of Health, wants broader involvement in government at the local level. "Princeton has difficult decisions to make in the next few years. I seek the opportunity to affect the quality of those decisions."

WHATEVER YOUR PARTY, VOTE NOV. 6 FOR THE CANDIDATES CLEARLY EQUIPPED TO DO A BETTER JOB

Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. David Wyle and Mrs. Norman H. Jackson.

Hopewell Valley Garden Club: open meeting, 8 p.m. Wednesday, November 14, to be held in the Fellowship Hall of the First Presbyterian Church in Hopewell. Mrs. Philip Mustard will give a lecture demonstration entitled "All Through The House." The public is also invited; a donation is requested.

The Campaign Committee of the 1973 United Fund - Red Cross campaign received 20 of its goal of $635,000 "which is pretty much about right for the campaign at this time," Charles Scholl, Campaign Chairman indicated.

He stated, however, that since all of the appeals have been mailed and solicitation is proceeding rapidly, "next week's report should indicate a large jump."

Members of the various divisions of the committee are Arnold Gasche and Ed Cole, research and industry; Fred Fields, data processing and Saul Cooperman, education; Professor Melvin Gottlieb, university; Harry Volweider, building trades and unions; Barry Daval, mercantile; Ken Wells, professions; John Hoff and Henry Patterson, special gifts and Cornelius Arnett, banks. Maurice Duggan is assistant chairman of the campaign.

Neighborhood captains are Al Lutz, Montgomery Township and Rocky Hill; Rosemary Pepino, West Windsor and Plainsboro; Robert Faloona, Hightstown and East Windsor; Consuelo Campbell, the two Princetons and Alan Frank, Kingston and South Brunswick.

LOOKING FOR ANTIQUES? Try Now 'n Then Shop. When a leaky roof began to threaten the handcrafts and antiques last June, the Now 'n Then Shop of Cranbury decided to move from behind the Cranbury Inn to a more central and safer location on Main Street.

Mrs. Barbara Flanner, the store's owner, seeks out unique handcrafts, and she has just found some calico patchwork kits for wreathes, Christmas stockings and tree ornaments. These pretty and unusual kits include the fabric and instructions, $2.50 to $15.

There are some very appealing stuffed animals that a grandmother would find hard to resist. We loved a large elephant made with red and white ticking fabric printed with blue dotted sailboats, $12, and Kanga and Roo, $7. Mrs. Flanner told us that Winnie and Eyore will be available too.

We also admired hand wrought sterling silver jewelry by James Russell of Rockport, Mass., especially a delicate chain made of different sized loops, $18.

Carved Birds. Other handcrafts included authentic carved birds by Ron Scherer and etchings of rural scenes by the same artist; toaster covers in the shape of a mammie done up in a gingham dress, available in many colors, $5, and finger puppets of two exquisitely dressed mice, $4 each.

The Now 'n Then Shop currently has several nice chairs such as two birdseye maple ones with cane seats in excellent condition, $30 each. We also saw four rush-bottom ladder back chairs with the original stencilling still visible, over 100 years old and $115 for the set.

We admired a cherry drop leaf table, $150, a spinning wheel in working condition, $125, and an 1875 Vienna eight-day clock, $160. The shop has a large selection of glass and china such as a set of John Ridgway dishes, 12 soup plates with the Padua scene are $60.

CENTURY OLD QUILTS: Quilts more than 100 years old such as the tree of life displayed here by Mrs. Barbara Flanner are at the Now 'n Then Shop in Cranbury. They range in price from $30 to $95.

Sleigh bells on a leather strap have a delightful sound to them and would be fun at Christmas time, $25 to $65 for an 1866 set. The shop also has brass bells that were attached between the two horses and rang when the horses moved, starting at $15.

Primitives have become difficult to find, but at the moment Mrs. Flanner has a butter bowl and paddle, $20, and some beautifully detailed butter molds, $30.

The Now 'n Then Shop is at 63 North Main Street, Cranbury, and is open Tuesday to Saturday from 10 until 5:30, with Friday evening hours until 8:30, and on Sunday the hours are from 1 until 5.

MORE THAN HARDWARE

At Lucar's. The other day when we stopped by Lucar Hardware, there was such a flurry of activity that we wondered what kind of free giveaway was in progress. Unfortunately there was none, and the many customers can only be attributed to the fact that this is a very spacious and well stocked store.

There is a large housewares section that includes corning ware casseroles in every imaginable size. This cooking ware can be stored in the refrigerator or freezer and then immediately placed on the stove or into the oven. It now comes in three patterns—the original blue cornflower, a soft floral bouquet and a bright spice of life. A small casserole pot is $6.95.

Corning also makes a portable counter saver on which you can cut, carve, slice or roll out pastries and it won't stain because it is non-porous, $7.95. Then there are the Corelle dishes that resist breaking, chipping and crazing to such an extent the Corning gives a two-year replacement guarantee. They are available in white or with a gold, green or blue design, and a 20-piece set is approximately $22.

It will soon be perfect weather for eating some nuts before a roaring fire, and Lucar's has just the bowl. It is designed like a large nut and comes with its own cracker and picks, $3.95.

Custom Shades. Other housewares we liked were some clear plastic freezer jars which makes it easy to check on what you decided to save. These are dishwasher safe and have a special "twistlok" cover, 39 cents and up. Then in the shade department it is possible to get custom-cut shades while you wait, and these no longer come just in white. We saw several colors, a floral print and some bright stripes.

Lucar's also has many small appliances such as a five-quart self-buttering popcorn popper by Cornwell, $14.95 and a four-slice Proctor Silex toaster so that no one has to wait, $34.95. We even saw vacuum cleaners.

However, there is far more in this store than housewares. There are tools, plumbing and

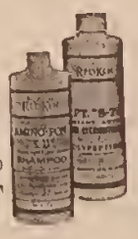
WHEN YOU PAY TO HAVE YOUR HAIR DONE— YOU DESERVE THE BEST



THAT'S WHY WE USE REDKEN PROFESSIONAL HAIR & BEAUTY PRODUCTS

Take Shampoo. It's a very important part of your hair care treatment. The right shampoo means healthier, lovelier hair. The wrong shampoo—well, it means hair trouble. In our best professional sense we couldn't use anything less than Redken's Amino-Pon K-11 shampoo. It's more than a shampoo—it's a treatment. Amino-Pon's naturally-organic, acid balanced formula provides the hair with protein. It is so good for the hair the second Amino-Pon sud-ing can actually be left in the hair for extra conditioning. After your first Amino-Pon treatment your hair regains lost life, strength, luster and beauty.

And if you have sick or damaged hair . . . you need Redken's P.P.T. "S.77" Reconditioner. It is a naturally-organic protein hair conditioner that actually feeds the hair needed nourishment. With correct P.P.T. treatments, damaged, weakened hair can be rebuilt and restructured.

We offer you the best in salon services through Redken products. Make an appointment with us today!

electrical supplies, gardening equipment, Cook and Dunn paint, and even pet products. Here we saw flea sprays, powders and collars if that is a current problem, and also leashes, bowls, and toys such as an old slipper for your dog to chew on.

Currently there is a special Black and Decker offer of a variable speed jig saw and a 3/8 inch drill for $30 (a value of $42.98). Then for the many nails, bolts, and screws that any handyman needs there is a unit of 12 small clear plastic drawers in an orange cabinet. Each cabinet is $4.29 and they are stackable.

Lucar Hardware is on the Princeton - Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction. There is a large parking lot and the store is open Monday to Friday from 8 until 7 and Saturday from 8 until 5.

NEW GIFT LINE SET

At Junction Pharmacy. Each year about this time the Junction Pharmacy begins to display its new gift line, which includes many attractive and useful items for every family member.

For wine and cheese lovers, we saw a clear lucite bottle holder, $9.95, and a large cheese board with a ceramic tile for cutting and two stoneware cheese knives for spreads in a gold and brown tulip design, $12.95. For other serving times we liked two wooden mushrooms that are covered with little holes for hor's d'oeuvres picks, $6.98, and eight wood and cork coasters shaped like apples and stained red, $2.98.

For more formal occasions there are four lead crystal napkin rings imported from Europe, $7.98, and a silverplated petal bowl that can be used as a flower arranger or as a candy dish, $12.95. Then there is a whole line of Tiffany styled mugs, coasters, trivets, etc., but our favorite was the four-piece cannister set with wood grained tops, $12.95.

For men we liked the hanging spider bottle opener, $1.50, the "executive decision maker" dart board, $5.98, and the everything tool that can be a hammer, wrench, screwdriver, nutcracker, etc. — it has dozens of uses, $1.98.

Sending Gifts Made Easy. Junction Pharmacy is also carrying the Gift America Collection by which you can have a gift delivered anywhere in the country by merely making a phone call. Some of the gifts include a gourmet food selection of ham, liver pate and caviar, $19.75, a Magnavox digital am/fm clock radio, $44.95 and a highland plaid blanket by J. P. Stevens which would be perfect for picnics or football games, $16.95.

In addition to the special gift line, the pharmacy carries books such as the Better Homes and Gardens cooking series to Dr. Atkins Diet Revolution in paperback; cards including one you can needlepoint; Russel Stover candies; candles galore and cosmetics.

From Coty there is a selection of sweet earth fragrances, in keeping with the natural feeling of today. Each group such as rare flowers, herbs, woods or grass has three fragrances in one compact, $2.75. Then Prince Matchabelli has a timely Golden Autumn collection of dusting powder, bubble bath and moisture bath beads, $1.95 and up.

Pierre Cardin has designed for men some handsome soaps and packaging. There is hand soap initialed PC, soap on a rope, after shave and colognes, $4 and up.

Other things that attracted our attention were a Mickey Mouse or Donald Duck nite lite, 89 cents, a Shick Hot Lather machine for the ultimate in shaving comfort, $19.95, and a lucite sculpture by Walter H. Greene of a painter and his palette, $15.

The Junction Pharmacy on the Hightstown Rd., Princeton Junction, is open every day — Monday to Friday from 9 until 9, Saturday from 9 until 6 and Sunday from 10 until 1.

CANDIDATES NIGHT SET

By League. A candidates' forum with a question and answer format, sponsored by the League of Women Voters, will be held Monday, October 29 at 8 p.m. in the John Witherspoon School auditorium.

Rosalie Mayers, chairman of the meeting, urges residents to attend so that they may gain information to make the best choice on election day November 6.

All candidates seeking municipal office will attend. In the borough, Martin Lombardo and Joe Moore, Democratic incumbents, and Margaret Penick and Robert Pols, Republicans, seek the two council seats. In the township, Democratic candidates Jay Bleiman, an incumbent, and Ellen Peterson, and Republican candidates Sanford Reynolds, an incumbent, and Everet Garretson, seek the two Committee seats.

All candidates for Mercer County Charter Study Commission have been invited. The League will have on hand the voting records of the 14th district legislative candidates for public reference. Voters not receiving the LWV's candidates information sheets in the mail may get a copy that nite.

Township Welcomes 2 New Young Experts

Two bright young men, one a specialist in public administration, the other a specialist in financial transactions, are strengthening and deepening municipal government in Princeton Township.

Girard C. Miller, 22, is now Assistant Township Administrator, new man in a new job. Alfred G. Woldin, 27, is Assistant Treasurer, new man in an existing job. (He succeeds Michael Fayko.)

"I try to invest to the fullest," says Mr. Woldin, with a high gleam in his eye. His 18 months' experience as chief financial officer for East Windsor, coupled to his Business Administration Master's in Economics, have made him a sharp edged investor of municipal — that is, taxpayers' — money.

This Monday, Township Committee passed a resolution allowing re-purchasing agreements. ("I learned about them at a seminar in Miami," grins Mr. Woldin.)

The idea is this: investments under $100,000 don't get a very attractive rate. But if the Township takes a few surplus thousand from this account and that — garbage, trust account, revenue sharing — the total could be quite high. And indeed Mr. Woldin has about $100,000 which he's been itching to invest.

The instrument known as a re-purchasing agreement allows investments for as short a time as five to 29 days. At the moment, New Jersey National Bank of Princeton and the Franklin Bank have said they'll pay around one-quarter percent more than the going rate on Treasury bills for these short-time investments. ". . . and I hope other banks will join them," Mr. Woldin says, again with that gleam.

"This device is especially significant at tax times," he explains, "you're getting in several million dollars early in the month but 15 days later, you've got to pay the school board or the county, or what ever. Now, if your money can earn maybe 8.25 percent for five or six days . . ."

He says he earned over $2,000 in interest for East Windsor this way.

Mr. Woldin's second project is to launch an encumbrance system of accounting, using the Burroughs L 5000, acquired by the Township tax office after the disastrous 1971 flood wiped out the office.

"This system tells a department exactly and precisely how much money is left in its account," he explains. "A $26.49 purchase order, for example, is treated just like a check and listed on the budget record to reduce automatically your balance. Or suppose you've contracted for a $1,500 purchase. It hasn't been paid yet, and under the usual system it wouldn't appear on your balance. But with an encumbrance system, it would be noted and you'd know how much money you've actually got."

TOWNSHIP TWO: Girard Miller and Alfred Woldin are the two new young men on the Township's staff. Mr. Miller is Assistant Administrator, Mr. Wolden is Assistant Treasurer. The work of each complements, but is independent of, the other.

"This hasn't been a serious problem in the Township — overspending an account, but with proper control it's improbable that it ever COULD happen."

Incidentally, Mr. Woldin's title "Assistant Treasurer" reflects his residence outside the Township (in Trenton.) Under state law, you can't be "Treasurer" unless you live in the municipality, apparently because somebody thinks you might take the money and run. Mr. Nini is Treasurer.

And now, Mr. Miller. Across Harrison and down Valley Road in Township Hall is Girard C. Miller, new Assistant Administrator.

"I know now what Joe Nini has been doing for the past ten years," he says. Mr. Miller's job was created to take some of the load from Administrator Joseph R. Nini. He started work July 23.

"Already," Mr. Miller observes, "Joe has been able to spend more time on policy considerations, or make responses to citizen problems. He's never had time for such things, as the town has grown."

A serious, almost stern, young man, Girard Miller sees the new job in two basic parts: budgeting and personnel. He wrote the budget manual for municipal agencies, explaining the new budgeting timetable and showing department heads how to use the new forms.

Right now, he's working on the new capital budget. The analytic tool he uses is PERT — Program Evaluation and Review Technique.

Mr. Miller is checking out previous expenses, and doing preliminary screening of departmental budgets to find what he calls "obvious discrepencies."

"I haven't been around long enough to make hard-nosed decisions," he comments, "Our hope is to work as a two-member unit — Joe and I. He, of course, has the final budget responsibilities."

In personnel, Mr. Miller sees his job as, again, relieving the Administrator who is often "bogged down," Mr. Miller points out, "with interviewing and screening. It's hard for the administrator of a town to drop everything and interview somebody for a clerk-typist job."

Already, in his three months

To get full value for every tax dollar elect
Michael G. MORRIS
Democrat for Assembly
14th Dist.

Michael Morris earned a Master's degree in Finance and Economics. As an analyst for an insurance company, he was responsbile for tens of millions of dollars invested in the health care field. "I know what a dollar is worth to a family," Morris has said. "I know what a dollar should buy in services. As a full time Assemblyman, I am going to make sure that the people of our district receive the services that they need, and that every penny of the taxpayers' money is effectively, wisely, and efficiently spent."

at Township Hall, Mr. Miller has made a time study in the Township garage to find out the cost of maintaining police cars, and launched a study of lease-versus-purchase of vehicles.

Keeping up with local-government case law, he heads the New Jersey Law Journal and half a dozen state publications, noting any application to Princeton Township's affairs, and marking articles for Mr. Nini's examination.

"Grantsmanship," Mr. Miller allows himself a rare smile, "I hope to search out more grants — I had extensive training in this at the Maxwell School." (That's the public administration school at Syracuse University where Mr. Miller received his master's degree this June.)

For example, he's approached the Bureau of Recreation to see whether money might not be available for bike paths that are used for recreational purposes.

Some "grantsmanship" has always been done in the Township; in fact, Mr. Miller's job resulted in part from Mr. Nini's own research. The state has a program designed to train recent public administration graduates. Under this program, the state pays the Township $700 a month toward Mr. Miller's $10,300 annual salary. After six months, the Township pays the entire salary, and is obligated to keep the trainee on the job for the remaining six months of the year. It isn't just a one-year job, however; the trainee's own skill and the exigencies of a municipal budget will determine whether he stays.

VARIANCE RECOMMENDED

For Sculpture Studio. The Borough Zoning Board last week recommended to Mayor and Council that a use variance be granted J. Seward Johnson Jr. to build a sculpture studio on a 20,000 square-foot lot in Marquand Park.

In addition, the board granted front, rear and side yard variances ranging from one to 40 feet and another to permit parking in a front yard. The board said its approval was conditional on the studio being turned over to the Marquand Park Foundation in the future for use as a conservatory.

Mr. Johnson had made that part of his application: that upon his death, or when he no longer uses the studio, he would donate it to the Foundation and provide funds for its upkeep.

The lot, located in a R1 zone, was purchased from Guernsey Hall, Inc. Mr. Johnson, who lives at 8 Newllin Road, has also purchased an apartment in the Guernsey Hall condominium, adjacent to the lot.

Mr. Johnson, who was not present at the hearing, was described by his attorney, Gordon Strauss, as a sculptor of some consequence who makes three or four pieces a year in the $10-$20,000 price range. Mainly, he said, Mr. Johnson constructs plaster molds for shipment abroad. There was no opposition to the application.

Yes to Joint Occupancy. In another decision carried over from the September meeting, the board recommended a use variance be granted William Bunting to allow him to convert a dwelling at 16 Vandeventer Avenue to joint occupancy. Located in a residential - office zone, the former rooming house will have an office on the first floor and apartments on the second and third floors.

Mr. Bunting was granted a variance for one off - street parking space. Two spaces will be located at the rear of the property adjoining Lincoln Court and a third will be located at an existing space in the front.

The board told Mr. Bunting to provide suitable fencing and screening for the rear parking area.

Pointing out that homes on Vandeventer sold in the $50 to $70,000 range and that the proposed apartments would be near the center of town and thus a desirable place to live, board member Mrs. Margery Claghorn challenged Mr. Bunting by saying that she hoped that he was committed to preserving the aesthetics of the neighborhood.

"I'm doing everything possible to make this a first-class property," he replied. "I want it to look just as it always looked." Mr. Bunting said that he intended no outside structural changes.

"It will be an attractive building," he promised Mrs. Claghorn.

The board had postponed its decision because it wanted more information from Mr. Bunting concerning its prior occupancy use.

FOLK DANCING PLANNED

At Jewish Center. Israeli and international folk dancing sessions will be held at the Princeton Jewish Center beginning Sunday at 8 pm. Now in its second season, dancing will again be led by Jerry Kaplan.

Along with Israeli dances, Mr. Kaplan teaches Balkan, Russian, English, Irish and American favorites from his extensive repertoire.

All ages and abilities, singles or in couples, are welcome. No enrollment is necessary. Meetings are at the Center every second and fourth Sunday of the month from 8-10 p.m. The fee for adults is $1.00 and for students 50 cents.

LIONS PLAN SALE

In Hopewell Township. The Hopewell Township Lions Club will begin its annual fruit cake and candy sale Saturday to raise funds for community projects. The drive will continue through the Christmas holiday season.

The Lions support a wide range of community and individual needs, including student aid, teenage dance canteens, food baskets and other help for those in need.

WEST WINDSOR!

Now there's a bank you can call your own

West Windsor State Bank is a new bank based on an old idea—personal, community service. It's an old idea that somehow is new again in our computer age. Neighborly, personal banking returns October 27 when The West Windsor State Bank opens its office on Princeton-Hightstown Road right in West Windsor. It's the only way the 200 incorporators of the bank would have it because, you see, they all live or work in West Windsor.

They saw a critical need for true, personal banking. And that philosophy is reflected throughout the bank's full line of services:

WINOSOR ONE CHECKING: The innovative checking account system with free checking regardless of your balance. There's nothing like in this area—or anywhere! It's the end of unnecessary large account balances or demeaning "special" checking account name tags that announce to the world your approximate balance.

SAVINGS ACCOUNTS: Every penny earns the maximum interest allowed by law from day of deposit to day of withdrawal. And your interest is compounded daily. Choose from among several savings plans.

LOANS, LOANS, LOANS: Mortgage loans, auto loans, home improvement loans, business loans, personal loans. Low bank interest rates with confidential, neighborly service.

EXTENDED BANKING HOURS: We want to be there when you need us most. Lobby or drive-in windows will be open 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. Monday through Thursday; Friday from 9 A.M. to 8 P.M. and Saturday 9 A.M. to 12 Noon with our complete full-range banking services available. And if you have to stand in line, we'll have refreshments. Use bank-by-mail service if you can't visit personally. We'll even provide postage paid envelopes. It's the personal service you'll come to expect from your community bank.

MULTIPLE SERVICES: You'll get the same full range of bank services offered by the largest area banks—and then some. Certificates of deposit, Christmas Club, travelers' checks, savings bonds, Federal depositary receipts, Treasurer's checks, money orders, wire transfers, collection services and more. We even provide free notary service!

YOUR MONEY'S SAFE WITH US: Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) will protect your deposits the same way it does for the very largest banks.

You're invited to our bank warming starting 9 A.M. Saturday October 27th. We've got lots of surprises and prizes in store for you, including drawings for three color TV's and SX 70 Polarord Land cameras. Stop by with the kids for free gifts for everyone.

But most of all come and let us show you what neighborly banking is really all about. We want our bank to be your bank. We'll be waiting to greet you—with a smile.

CONTRIBUTORS NAMED

To Martindell Campaign. Anne C. Martindell, Democratic candidate for State Senate in the 14th District has announced that she had received to date $21,000 in campaign contributions.

Mrs. Martindell, a former Democratic state chairwoman and presently national committeewoman, listed individual contributions over $100, as well as donations under $100 to her campaign.

Contributors of more than $100 include:

Frederick M. Bohen	$ 125
Edward Cone	500
Marjorie Clark	250
Elizabeth C. Dilworth	150
Daniel Gaby	200
Esther U. Johnson	3,000
Fleury and Donald Mackie	110
Anne C. Martindell (loan)	10,000
Helen S. Meyner	500
Joan Overton	500
Frank E. Taplin	250
Gino and Clotilde Treves	110
Faith W. Ziesing	500

There were 225 individual contributors with donations under $100 to the Martindell for Senate campaign including a $50 contribution from the United Auto Workers. The individual list is available on request.

Mrs. Martindell, who has long favored open disclosure of campaign financing, said full disclosure of all campaign finances would bring a breath of fresh air to national and state politics.

"It rids the American voting public of hidden last minute political contributors who invest in elections for political gain. "Full and honest disclosure will help prevent another Watergate from being inflicted on the American voter," she said.

RUMMAGE SALE SET

At Jewish Center. The Women's Division of the Princeton Jewish Center will hold its semi-annual rummage sale from Sunday through Tuesday. Good, reusable merchandise from art supplies to zoology books will be sold at the Center, 435 Nassau Street.

On Sunday, the sale will be held from 2 until 8. On Monday, it will run from 9:30 until 5:30. Items will be sold during the final day for $1 a bag from 9:30 until the sale's closing at noon.

Mrs. Leonard Jacobson and Mrs. Allen Porter and co-chairmen of the event, welcome all donations of suitable clothes, books, games and household items to the sale. Items should be brought to the Princeton Jewish Center; however, arrangements for collection can also be made. Additional information is available by calling the Center, 924-5493.

FILM PROGRAM PLANNED

At Public Library. Women's ideas about themselves will be the subject on Monday evening, at 8 at the Public Library. Two films, "Growing Up Female" and "Anything You Want To Be", will be followed by a talk by Toby Lipman on the purpose and nature of consciousness-raising groups.

Ms. Lipman has spent several years organizing such groups in Westchester County. She and Peg Fields Beach will describe the ways such a group may be started.

BIKE REGISTRATION SET

In West Windsor. With the cooperation of the West Windsor Police Department, the West Windsor Recreation Committee is offering all residents an opportunity to register their bicycles. At the same time each bicycle will be given a safety check.

The Nassau Savings & Loan Association has donated funds to provide reflector tape which will be installed on the bicycles of the first 250 registrants at each location.

Registration will be held Saturday, October 27 at the following locations: Dutch Neck School from 9 until noon; at the Maurice Hawk School from 1 to 4.

Sergeant Bruce Waters of the West Windsor Police Department will aid in the registration and inspection of the bicycles. It is suggested that the owners try to locate serial numbers of their bicycles beforehand. The numbers are frequently located under the sprocket housing, but locations vary according to the make of the bicycle.

Residents of the community who can assist in this registration should call Jerry Cohen 799-0872.

PARTIES PLANNED

For Democratic Candidates. Democratic candidates running for office on the municipal level will act as neighborhood hosts in Pennington Borough, Hopewell Borough and Hopewell Township at the candidates wine and cheese parties scheduled for area residents on Friday, October 26.

Diane Monteleone and Pat Anywl will greet Pennington residents at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Weed Tucker on Reading Avenue.

Hopewell Borough candidates John Kaussner, John Berseth and James Amon will meet their local constituents at the Kaussner home, 83 West Broad Street in Hopewell. The Stark residence on Maddock Road in Titusville will be the site for Fran Friederman and Hopewell Township voters to meet.

All interested residents of Hopewell Valley, are welcome to participate in their area wine and cheese party from 8 to 11 p.m.

TOWN TOPICS is delivered without charge to every home in Princeton Borough and Township and to part or all of West Windsor, Lawrence, Hopewell, Montgomery, South Brunswick and Franklin Townships and Griggstown. At all newsstands, including TOWN TOPICS' office, it costs 15c.

What's the record for one player scoring the most touchdowns in one pro football game! . . . It was set originally by Ernie Nevers, who in 1929 for the Cardinals, scored six TD's in one game . . . Dub Jones of the Browns tied the record when he scored 6 TD's in a game in 1951.

Here's a football oddity . . . Thirty and more years ago, most football kickers usually tried to punt the ball out-of-bounds on their opponents' one, two or three yard line . . . But today most punters in college and pro football just kick the ball straight into the end zone, which gives their opponents the ball out on the 20 . . . Isn't it odd they don't try more out-of-bounds punts today.

Who's the oldest boy ever to play college football . . . It coud be a man who's playing college football this season, 43-year old Mal Dixon who's an end at Fairleigh Dickinson University . . . Dixon played high school football back in 1944, but didn't go to college then . . . However, this year, 29 years later he decided to go to college and went out for the football team this fall . . . He made the team and is older than the coach, and old enough to be the father of his teammates, and is possibly the oldest college football payer in history.

Tigers Top Colgate But Remain Underdogs against Unfriendly Quakers

PART OF HIS 200-PLUS TOTAL: Walt Snickenberger's best day as a ball carrier played a major part in Tigers' 37-21 triumph over Colgate. The Princeton running back gained 218 yards to raise his four-game total to 561. (Bob Matthews Photo)

Having proved to the blackest pessimists that it would not become the first Tiger football team to lose its first four games, thereby opening the gates for an 0-9 season, Princeton now returns to the Ivy League ward with Pennsylvania as its foe Saturday in Palmer Stadium.

In sharp contrast to the decade of the 60s, when the Quakers played a slogging type of football and invariably finished well down in second division, the Red and Blue is an exciting team to watch — even for those hoping for its defeat. A 5-9 running back, whose mother christened him Adolph and whose teammates have given him the more alliterative name of "Beep Beep" Bellizeare, is pound for pound the fastest and most elusive back playing for the Ivies this year.

QUICK LOOK AT PENN

OFFENSE: Has been slow to start but is largely responsible for Quakers' first-place Ivy tie and overall 3-1 mark.

DEFENSE: Not of the best, thereby providing Princeton's chief hope. Penn has yielded average of 18 points a game.

CHIEF ASSET: One-two punch provided by running of Adolph Bellizeare and fine pass-catching of Don Clune.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Inconsistency. Offense tends to sputter but usually gets the job done. Defense somewhat vulnerable.

The league's top runner after two games with 236 yards to 164 for Walt Snickenberger. Bellizeare spends most of his time going outside and will severely test the somewhat inexperienced ends on the Tigers' defensive platoon. He also leads the Ivies in scoring with 24 points.

Giving the Quakers fine balance is a pitch-and-catch combination that has made them able to average better than 400 yards in each of their Ivy games. Martin Vaughn, now established as the quarterback, works well with 6-5 Don Clune, one of the best wide receivers in college football. While still a senior, Clune has been named to the all-time Ivy team, for which players dating from 1956 were eligible.

Vaughn, averaging .500 in completions, works Penn's quarterback options well and has won the starting assignment on a basis of his play since the opening loss to Lafayette. He appears to be giving Penn the kind of take charge personality it has rarely had at this position in the past 10 or 12 years.

Able to erase a two-touchdown deficit at Hanover, and after scoring a come-from-behind victory over Brown, Penn is ready to play 60 minutes of football. The Quakers are convinced they have their best shot at the title in 14 long years, and they will play that way on Saturday.

COLGATE DEMOLISHED

By Tigers' Early Surge. Unable to produce more than 33 points in its first three games, Princeton's pent-up team collected 37 against Colgate Saturday to leave the ranks of eight major colleges in the country still seeking their first victory. Thirty-one of the Tigers' total were posted on the board with less than 26 minutes gone, but injuries to several members of the starting line on the offensive platoon kept the game from becoming a rout.

A sparkling 37-yard return of the kickoff to midfield by sophomore Dick Monaghan, from whom more will be heard this season, set the stage for the home team's first drive. After an incomplete pass, Snickenberger carried five straight times, his longest gain in this series for 19 yards, and Princeton had a touchdown with no more than 2:06 erased from the clock.

Midway through the period, quarterback Ron Beible had capped a 71-yard march with a 14-yard TD pass to tight end Bob Harding and with three minutes in the quarter still to play, Snickenberger ran 15 yards through the middle for the third score. Beible raised the count early in the second quarter to 28-0 by racing untouched for 13 yards on a sneak, and Scott Morrison booted a 33-yard field goal at 10:36 — all before the visitors could record a first down.

Much of their trouble stemmed from an injury to quarterback Tom Parr, who is a good deal of a one-man gang for the Red Raiders. Suffering a contusion of the shin the Carvings of many ancient civilizations are evidence enough that horse racing is a sport which may be more than thirty centuries old. In fact, horse racing was a feature attraction of the 23rd ancient Olympic Games. Horse racing is a perennial favorite among Americans too. In fact, in 1967 more than four million dollars was paid for a horse called Buckpassert I'm sure however horses were just as valuable centuries ago.

Basketball and hockey are perennial favorites too, and SPORTS 'N' THINGS, Montgomery Shopping Center, 924-8162 has a complete selection of equipment for you to choose from. second time Colgate came into possession, he sat out the rest of the action, and with the Tigers rolling steadily for points against the vulnerable Raider defense, all doubt about the outcome was removed early in the first half.

Make-Shift Offense. Dependency on Parr had been so heavy at Colgate this season that his two immediate backups, sophomore Bruce Basile and senior Gary Mayer, had been in for a total of just four plays between them. Of the two, Mayer proved far superior, producing all three of the losers' touchdowns, but he was the third quarterback to see action, and by the time he got one in each of the last three periods, it was too late.

The visitors' final score came as the clock ran out. It was 31-7 at the half, and 31-15 when the final quarter began. Princeton's final touchdown coming after an interception by sophomore middle guard John Basta had put the Tigers in business on the Colgate 21. Sophomore running back Steve Buckley went over from three yards out.

A 78-yard punt return that went the distance was cancelled for clipping. Monaghan was the loser on this one, but his ability to set up his blocks and his elusive speed bode well for the future.

While the Tigers ran extremely well, particularly during the early going, neither the passing nor the defense improved over the Cornell game. Even first division in the final standings may be an achievement beyond reach, but if late-season victories ameliorating the defeats sustained so far are to be achieved, progress in stopping the opposition and in gaining through the air are essential.

Beible was no better than 7 for 21 passing. A majority of the incompletions were directly traceable either to his overthrowing the receivers, or their failing to hold balls he did throw accurately. The pass patterns were generally working extremely well, and a normal degree of ability in this department would have kept the Tigers in complete charge all afternoon. As it was, they were outscored for the final 34 minutes by a margin of 21 to 7.

The injury count is creating additional problems to the thinly-manned squad. Most serious casualty is the 245-lb. defensive tackle, Ken Beytin, who has consulted a neurosurgeon about the injured nerve in his shoulder. He sat out the Colgate game, and his availability for the future remains in doubt.

Offensive guards Tony Biagas and Joe Zajac were both hurt Saturday; tackle Glenn Yantik received a mild concussion and flanker Kerry Brown has a bad ankle. None of this is good in a season when there is very little good news of any kind.

Football Rally (Remember?) Returns to Campus

If Saturday's drubbing of Colgate ever proves to be the beginning of a resurgence in Princeton football fortunes, credit may go not only to Casciola, Snickenberger, Beible & Co., but also to a sandy haired freshman named Jack Butler.

One of the managers of the Tiger squad, Butler's contributions on the field Saturday consisted solely of lugging cups of water from the sidelines to the players. But on Friday Butler single-handedly staged something that has been missing from Princeton football for years—a pep rally.

The Birmingham, Michigan, student figured that an 0-3 football team could use any moral support it could get. He obtained commitments from the University Band and the Glee Club, and then announced his plans to the entire undergraduate body.

"Even if only the band and the glee club showed up I figured it would be worth the effort," said Butler. According to his count 380 students and townspeople marched through campus, across Washington Road, down Prospect Avenue and Roper Lane and into Palmer Stadium.

There, under the scoreboard, the group cheered on the football players, who briefly interrupted their light Friday practice schedule to respond to the show of support. Captain Bill Cronin and Casciola spoke briefly through a bull horn.

Why Not? "I'd like to think this makes a difference," said Butler at the time. In the frenetic days of Cambodia, Kent State, and student unrest, pep rallies were virtually non-existent. Faded memories seem to remember one before the 1969 Dartmouth game, and another before the '65 Dartmouth game.

"I think kids in the late '60s were asking 'Why?' if you mentioned pep rallies," said Butler. "Now kids are saying, 'Why not?' "

Butler's ability to organize a pep rally for an 0-3 team is even more remarkable. Now, he is aiming for another rally, this one full scale on the steps of Blair Arch, the Friday night before the Yale game.

If anyone can organize it, Butler probably can. Sidelined from football in his freshman year of high school by an ankle injury, Butler became, in quick succession, announcer, business manager, publicist, statistician, and assistant junior varsity coach at his high school, which has an enrollment of 2,000.

No to Yale. His college choices narrowed to Princeton and Yale, Eli Coach Carm Cozza offered Butler a position as an assistant freshman coach on his staff when he heard of Butler's background.

He turned him down for Princeton. "I wanted to become part of a new program," he said.

In his spare time, Butler officiates football games — another skill he acquired in high school. He has refereed several high school games this fall, including contests involving Notre Dame and Trenton High School.

He also officiates two games each Sunday in the Princeton Midget League. "You really have a chance to help kids learn football when you officiate at this level," he said.

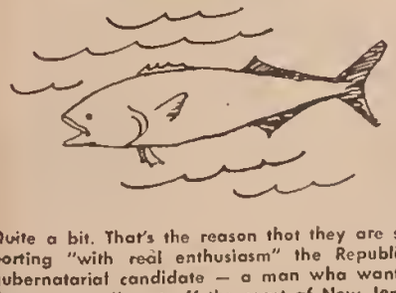
WHAT DO THE REPUBLICAN FREEHOLDER CANDIDATES HAVE AGAINST CONSERVATION!


Quite a bit. That's the reason that they are supporting "with real enthusiasm" the Republican gubernatorial candidate — a man who wants a deep water oil port off the coast of New Jersey. A man who the League of Conservation Voters gave a 1972 rating of two out of a possible 100. Now, you know this can't be good for New Jersey and it certainly can't be good for Mercer County where so much progress has been made in developing one of the finest parks and recreation programs in the country. Have it your way. Vote for the candidates who are concerned about conservation. Vote Democratic.

PHS, Now 3-2, Looks to Rebound Against Hun

Unable to get any kind of sustained offense going until the fourth quarter when it was too late, the Princeton High School football team (3-2) lost its second in a row last week to Bridgewater-Raritan West, 21-7.

In addition, both PHS quarterbacks, John Mooney and Pete Watson sustained arm injuries in the game, but in spite of all this, not everything was bleak for the Blue and White. The good news came from other gridiron fronts.

Notre Dame, its quarterback sidelined in the second quarter with an injury, was upset by Hamilton, 18-0. Steinert was shocked by previously winless St. Anthony, 6-0, which means the first official Mercer County League Championship is still there for the Little Tigers to grab.

Currently the lone undefeated county team, PHS can win the crown outright if it can defeat Steinert, Notre Dame and Trenton in its last three games. What once seemed a formidable task looks less so in the light of last week's upsets — provided the Little Tigers can regroup themselves.

PHS should be able to get back in the win column Saturday when it travels across town to take on winless Hun School in a 2 p.m. contest. Certainly, the Blue and White will be happy to end its forrays into Somerset County. In two years against Bridgewater and Hillsborough, PHS is 0-4.

Indeed, the one thing the Little Tigers will have to guard against most is overconfidence. "The kids know it will be an easier game. I hope they don't take it too lightly," commented PHS coach Dick Wood about Hun. Hun, Wood observed, looked sharper in its last start against Delbarton than it has in other games this season. Last year, in the first meeting between the two schools in decades, PHS routed Hun, 42-0.

PHS ELEVEN HAS WINGS CLIPPED: Quarterbacks John Mooney (right) and Pete Watson both sustained arm injuries in last week's 21-7 loss to Bridgewater-Raritan. Mooney's arm was bruised in the fourth quarter but he'll be ready to go against Hun. Watson's status will depend on x-ray reports.

This time, PHS will be forced to go without a regular end. Mike Diamond, who also missed the Bridgewater game with a leg injury, Mooney definitely will be ready to go, Wood stated, while Watson remained a question mark.

Watson was x-rayed after the game Saturday but doctors wanted another x-ray taken before they would give him the green light. He was hurt in the first half against Bridgewater and although his arm was taped, he couldn't hold the ball.

Benfer Scores. Against Bridgewater, PHS scored its lone touchdown late in the final period when Jeff Benfer, a 5-10, 184 pound junior back, crashed over from the four to culminate a long drive. Runs by Kevin Scudder and Ron Campbell of 23 and 21 yards were the big plays. Steve Tomlinson, (18-for-18) kicked the extra point.

"We made a lot of mistakes. Things just didn't seem to go right," Wood commented. "It was almost a duplication of last week only there was less scoring." He cited Scudder for his offensive running as one of the few bright spots for Princeton.

The home-team Golden Falcons (2-3) took advantage of one PHS error in the first quarter when they recovered a Campbell fumble on the PHS 36. Three plays later they scored from the one.

Campbell, whose hard running turned the Ewing game around for PHS, fumbled again in the second period, this time on his own 22 after taking a pass from Watson. Again, three plays later, Bridgewater had its second six-pointer.

The Falcons made it 21-0 in the final period when Bill Miller intercepted a Mooney pass on the PHS 22 and returned it all the way.

Bridgewater ran out of the same I formation that Hillsborough had used the week before with success against Princeton. "We worked on defensing it all week," said a nonplused Wood.

"We really should have been running earlier," said Wood. "They attempted to close down the middle and we couldn't do some of the things we wanted to. There were other things we could have done but we just couldn't seem to make the necessary adjustments.

In addition, Wood said that PHS had trouble with its offensive blocking. The passing was spotty at best. When PHS was able to get off a pass, it was dropped by a man in the open or fumbled away after the completion. At least it always seemed that way.

Ironically, when PHS, which has scored six times in previous games through the air, was grounded because of the arm injuries to both quarterbacks, its offense began to jell. Wood praised the team for "hanging in." Later, he reported the team's spirit was as high as ever despite the two losses.

After five games, Bob Zinsmeister leads PHS in scoring with five TDs, three rushing and two on pass receptions. Rich Warfield has caught four TD passes ranging from 43 to eight yards. Mooney has scored three times rushing and has thrown five TD passes.

Tomlinson is perfect with 18 extra point conversions in 18 tries and has kicktd a 15-yard field goal for 21 points.

PANTHERS PULL UPSET

Stun Wardlaw 8-6. The Princeton Day football team may have gotten off to a slow start this season, but from all indications, the Panthers will roll to a fast and glorious finish.

The loss of fullback Bill Martin, severely handicapped the Blue and White's offense at the start, and the team dropped its first two games. Two weeks ago it routed a weak Trinity team 32-6, and last Saturday upset a highly-regarded Wardlaw eleven 8-6 on the loser's field.

Now, with Martin set to return for this Saturday's game with St. Bernard's away, the Panthers have an excellent chance to win the rest of their games. St. Bernard's will not be as tough as Wardlaw, it lost 44-0 when the two schools met earlier, but it could pose a threat for an upset of its own if the Panthers are content to rest on their laurels.

Against Wardlaw, PDS played good hard-nosed football, relying mainly on a solid ground attack up the middle to grind out the needed yardage. The defense which gave up an early score on the first quarter on a 64 yard run from scrimmage, did not allow the losers to get within the 20-yard line the rest of the afternoon.

Wardlaw's touchdown (the kick for the extra point was wide) gave it a 6-0 lead which it managed to hold until the third period. Then, a fumble recovery by Shawn Ellsworth set the Blue and White up on the Wardlaw 40. A few plays later halfback Tim Hamid went 26 yards for the score.

The winning margin was provided on a fine off tackle run by Mark Blaxill, who broke one tackle on the way to a successful two-point conversion. Hamid and Blaxill carried the burden of the POS attack all day, Hamid running 20 times for 120 yards and Blaxill, 13 for 65 yards. POS also gained 70 yards through the air, mostly on screen passes.

The fourth quarter provided some drama, as PDS drove all the way to the Wardlaw four-yard line, before losing the ball on downs. The home team then took over and with the clock running out began a slow but steady march down field, reaching the PDS 20 on a first and ten situation.

Three passes went incomplete and Hamid intercepted the fourth on the POS nine yard line. The Panthers then proceeded to run out the remaining two minutes.

HUN TO ENTERTAIN PHS

After Delbarton Loss. Hun scored its season high of 14 points and led twice in the game but it still wasn't enough to prevent the Red and Black football team from going down to its fifth straight defeat Saturday against home-town Delbarton, 27-14. Delbarton scored twice in the final period to even its record at 3-3.

Hun has only three games left and coach Dave Leete said that he would like to see "a couple of wins" before the season ends. But it will be out of the frying pan into the fire for the beleaguered Hun eleven.

Game six pits Hun against town rival Princeton High School Saturday at 2 at the Hun gridiron. Leete, who watched as the Little Tigers destroyed St. Anthony earlier in the season, has no illusions. "They're very tough," he said.

Against Delbarton, Hun came back in the second half to take the lead twice over Oelbarton but the Hun defense wasn't able to contain the home team. "We played much better than we have before," agreed Leete.

Trailing 6-0 at the half, Hun got on the board when halfback Bob McHugh went off tackle for 72 yards. Jon Videbeck then passed to Dave Clark for the two-point conversion and an 8-6 Hun lead.

A 40-yard scoring aerial gave the lead back to Delbarton but it see-sawed back in Hun's favor early in the final period as McHugh bucked over from the one. The TD was set up when Hun recovered a Oelbarton fumble on the Hun 20.

Oelbarton, however, scored on a drive to regain the lead for the third time and then put the game out of reach when it capitalized on a Hun fumble and scored again.

RUG MART IN FRONT

In Midget Football. Led by a defense that is still to be scored upon, the Rug and Furniture Mart team won again Sunday in Midget Football League play, beating Princeton Fuel, 12-0, and remained in first place at the half-way point in the season.

Ron Ward led the Rug Mart attack with his running and passing, hitting Bob Rumer with a pass in the second quarter for the first score, and running 17 yards in the third for the other. Rumer also intercepted a Fuel Oil pass.

Fuel Oil threatened to score, aided by the passing of Charles Phox and the running of Don Gips, but never reached the end zone. John Forrey and Bob Campbell stood out on defense for Rug Mart in addition to Rumer and Ward. Dave Miller, Bob McAvenia and Darryl Grisham played well for Fuel Oil.

In the second game, Nassau Conover overcame a 6-0 deficit, and went onto whip the University Store, 19-6. Rod Taylor and Marc Pittman ran well for the winners, who also scored on a Jay Budd to Kieran Esposito pass that covered 80 yards. Standing out on defense for the Nassau Conover were Bob Cronin, Woody Clark and Dean Pannell.

Standings to date show Rug Mart in front at 2-0-1, Nassau Conover, 2-1-0; Fuel Oil, 1-2-0; and U-Store, 0-2-1.

PETERSON, SIBSON WIN

In Midget Football. In the second week of the Princeton Midget Football League season, Peterson Construction defeated J. P. Cleaver, last year's champions, 12-7, and Simpson & Co. overpowered First National Bank, 26-0.

Tigers to Face Duquesne

Princeton's basketball team has drawn well-regarded Duquesne as its opponent in the first round of the 22d ECAC Holiday Festival to be played in Madison Square Garden from December 27-29. The game will be the third on the opening day schedule, starting at 7.

Other pairings are La-Salle-Stanford at 1, Manhattan-St. Louis at 3 and Illinois St. John's at 9. Thursday winners and losers will meet in Friday's semi-finals, with a full schedule, including consolation rounds, starting Saturday morning at 10.

The Tiger quintet, 16-9 and Ivy runner-up last year, is captained by 6-9 center Andy Rimol. Three returning starters will be aided by the addition of Armond Hill, a 6-4 sophomore guard who was an All-American at Bishop Ford High School in Brooklyn.

at Grover Park behind the Princeton Shopping Center at 9 and 10. This Saturday, it is Peterson vs. First National and Hilton Realty vs. Cleaver in the second game.

Jerry Moyer and Larry McKeller scored Peterson's two touchdowns on runs of 35 and 40 yards. Tom Lion and David Yim led the victors' defense.

Tom Bolster scored Cleaver's lone touchdown and Bruce Cleveland added the extra point. Outstanding on defense for the losers were Mark Budd, Peter Nelson, Stuart Shepetin and Cleveland.

Robert Taylor scored three touchdowns and intercepted two passes to spark Sibson to its shutout over the Bank. Peter Sharpless accounted for the other TD, while Freddy Romero and James Varney scored the extra points. David Dyson and Michael Kennedy paced the Sibson defense.

Judd Petrone and Davy Ferguson were the chief gainers for the Bank's offense; the defense was led by Doug Ferguson, Chris Henkel, John Kellogg and Michael Leahy.

The opening week of the season was marked by two scoreless ties. Hilton Realty and Sibson were involved in one deadlock, the Bank and Cleaver in the other.

The Hilton defense was led by Tim Bertone with eight tackles and Robert Rice and Tim Wojciechowicz with seven each. Michael Kennedy, seven tackles, and Peter Sharpless, Bryan Varvel and Clyde Pannell all with five tackles paced Sibson on defense.

Doug Ferguson, John Kellogg, Luke Petrocelli, Judd Petrone and James Mack were the Bank's standouts in defense. For Cleaver, Mark Budd and Dan Miller led the big D.

REGATTA SATURDAY

On Carnegie Lake. The Carnegie Sailing Club is reactivating its Touchdown Bowl Regatta held for many years in Penguin sailboats and will hold it this Saturday in Laser class boats.

The Regatta includes a 9:45 ning races, and finish in time for liquid refreshments and the Penn - Princeton football game. Carnegie welcomes all lasers, spectators, and anyone thinking of buying a sailboat. Lasers are ideal for Carnegie Lake, they raced in spring and fall on the lake, popular on the Jersey Shore, and probably the fastest growing sailboat class in the world today.

The Regatta offers a good opportunity to study the boat, its sailing characteristics and to talk to present owners.

SKATING SESSIONS SET

At Baker Rink. Princeton University's Baker Rink will be open to the public most Friday and Saturday nights, from 7:30 to 10:30, and on Sundays, with a children's session from 12:15 to 2:15.

The cost is $1.50 for adults and $1 for children.

The exact schedule: October — 19, 20, 21, 26, 27, 28; November — 2, 3, 4, 9, 10, 11, 16, 17, 18, 23, 4, 25, 30; December — 1, 2, 7, 9, 14, 15, 16, 21, 22, 23, 28, 29, 30; January — 4, 5, 6, 11, 13, 18, 19, 20, 25, 26, 27; February — 1, 2, 3, 8, 10, 16, 17, 22, 23, 24; March — 1, 2, 3, 8, 9, 10, 15, 16, 17.

TOWNSHIP POLICE WIN

On Golf Course. Borough police may rule supreme on the basketball court but Township police are champions on the golf course.

Township police won the annual Springdale police golf match for the fourth consecutive time with a team score of 351. Princeton University Security, which competes with the Borough and Township police in the event, finished second with 375, while the Borough was a distant third with 389.

The top four scores from each team were used for the total team score — normally it is the top five, but the hard-pressed Borough team could field only four players.

Mike Kopliner of the Township led all with an 80. Frank Boccanfuso had 82, Robert Nielsen 93 and Jack Petrone 96 for the Township. Others on the township suad included Cromwell, both 97; Anthony Nini 100 and Anthony Pinelli, 108.

Jim Kopliner, a former Borough sergeant, led the University with an 82. Al Terry had 86, Chick Jones 91 and Snoop Sylvestre, 116.

Sgt Ralph Procaccino's 82 paced the Borough contingent. He was on his way to a fine score when he double bogied the 17th and triple bogied the last hole. He attributed his blow - up to "harrassment" from non playing Lt Mike Lisi of the Township.

Doug Watson followed with a 91 for the Borough, while Tom Procaccino had 103 and Dave Alston, 113.

Since the defection of Kopliner, the departure of Stanley Donald and the retirement of Randy Applegate, it's been one long sand trap for the Borough.

TENNIS TITLES WON

In W. Windsor. Gwenda and Kevin Little captured the annual Mother-Son doubles tennis tournament held by the West Windsor Recreation Department. They won by defeating Mary Lou and Kevin Syberg, 6-2, 6-3 in the finals.

The Littles had reached the finals by overcoming Doris and Steve Holaday, 6-2, 6-2. In the other semi-finals match Lorraine and Bob Haws, 6-4, 6-2. Other matches in the tournament, won in 1972 by Bernt and Sharon Midland, had the Holadays defeating the MacLeods, 6-4, 6-2; the Haws beating Donna and Doug Smith, 6-2, 6-4; and the Sybergs winning over Fran and Katie Ruch, 6-3, 6-4.

In the Father-Daughter doubles tournament, Bob and Lynn Pearce were crowned champions as they defeated Jim and Katie Ruch, 6-3, 6-2. To reach the finals, the Pearces had to defeat Don and Jeanne Haws, 6-3, 5-7, 6-1, in the semi finals and Newton and Stacy Godnick, 6-2, 6-3.

The Haws had won over Dick and LeAnn Hansen, 6-3, 6-2, in an earlier match. The Ruches had won in the semi-finals from Vic and Alice Payne, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4. The Paynes had reached the semis by winning over Bill and Kim Schneider, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4 while the Ruches' earlier match resulted in a win over John and Pamela MacLeod, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3.

TOWN TOPICS is delivered without charge to every home in Princeton Borough and Township and to part or all of West Windsor, Lawrence, Hopewell, Montgomery, South Brunswick and Franklin Townships and Griggstown. At all newsstands, include TOWN TOPICS' office, it costs 15c.

keep them working for you!

Joe Moore and Marty Lombardo are the Democratic candidates for reelection to the Princeton Borough Council. Together with their fellow Democrats on the Council, they

- Were responsible for creating the Princeton Joint Commission on Aging.
- Helped enact a rent-leveling law, a tough housing inspection program, and all-night parking on municipal lots.
- Worked for better recreation facilities, including bicycle paths.
- Supported improvements in public safety, including expansion of the police force and better equipment for the firemen.
- Kept the tax rate increase to the lowest level in six years, in spite of inflationary pressures.

News Of The CHURCHES

REV. GUIDRY HONORED For Church Service. A former hairstylist, masseur, truck driver, and private detective, Curley C. Guidry has held only one steady job in his entire life: preaching in the Church of God in Christ.

This Sunday Rev. Guidry will be honored for 38 years of "uninterrupted distinguished service as a pastor and organizer" by the Religious Workers Guild of the Church of God in Christ International, the denomination's governing board in Memphis, Tenn.

The Citation of Commendation will be presented to M. Guidry at a special 3 p.m. service at the Morning Star Church of God in Christ, 43½ Birch Avenue. He has been pastor of the Morning Star Church for the past seven years.

Mr. Guidry's varied employment background was developed in the early years of his ministry in the San Francisco-Oakland Bay area. "You couldn't support yourself and a family of seven just by preaching," he says now.

He attended the Franklin School of Cosmetology to acquire knowledge of the beauty business, and the Golden Gate Detective School to qualify for his positions as an investigator for a law firm and an insurance company.

Youth Work. He later became the first black man in the Bay area to join the Teamsters Union as a beverage distributor. He also worked as a radio announcer for stations in Oakland in San Francisco.

Meanwhile, he maintained his standing in the church. From 1954 to 1962 he served as district youth president for the Church of God in Christ in Oakland.

He was a public relations man for the Northern California district of the church, and regional president of the Evangelistic Board for Oregon, Washington and Alaska, in addition to numerous other assignments.

Since coming to New Jersey he has served as financial secretary of the C. H. Mason Bible College, chairman of the Devotional Service; and regional president for New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware.

Barbecue Chef. He has not escaped additional part time duties, however. One of the primary fund raising efforts of the Morning Star Church are Saturday chicken and spare ribs barbecues.

The cook is none other than Mr. Guidry himself.

BULLETIN NOTES

A 10-mile walk against hunger will begin Sunday at 1 p.m. at the Princeton Shopping Center. Sponsored by the Harlingen, Rocky Hill and Griggstown Reformed Churches, the walk is intended to raise money for the Community Hunger Appeal of the Church World Service. Walkers are "sponsored" by individuals who will contribute a certain amount for each mile they walk. Call 359-6144 for more information.

Malcolm Williamson, the composer and organist, will appear at the Princeton Theological Seminary's Miller Chapel Monday from 3.30 to 6. Dr. Williamson believes in involving the audience with the regular performers in what he calls "instant opera."

A workshop in parent effectiveness training is being held Thursday from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. at the Christ Congregation Church, Walnut Lane and Houghton Road. The Rev. Raymond C. Trout is conducting the sessions. Tuition is $65 per person.

The Women's Guild of the Griggstown Reformed Church is sponsoring a rummage sale Friday from 9 to 6 and Saturday from 9 to noon, with a children's penny sale Saturday from 1 to 2. Articles may be brought to the church Thursday.

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter - Day Saints (Mormon) will hold an open house Friday at 7:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wright, 15 Canoe Brook Drive, Princeton Junction. A film, "Meet the Mormons," will be shown to help acquaint nonmembers with the basic beliefs of the Mormon Church and its role in society.

Trinity Episcopal Church, Crescent Avenue in Rocky Hill, will hold a rummage sale Friday from 7 to 9 and Saturday from 10 to noon. On Wednesday the Rt. Rev. Albert Van Duzer, Bishop of the Diocese of New Jersey, will perform a special service of confirmation at 8 p.m. A reception will follow.

The Rev. Dr. James I. Packer, associate principal of Trinity College, Bristol, England, will deliver three public lectures and conduct a Chapel service next week at the Princeton Theological Seminary. He will speak Monday and Tuesday at 7:30 in the main lounge of the Campus Center, and again Wednesday at 1:30. The service will be Wednesday at 10 a.m.

A vocal and piano concert with George Tilton and Melvin Goodwyn will be held Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Calvary Baptist Church, 3 East Broad Street, Hopewell.

in the Drug and Alcohol Addiction Unit.

The candy need not be Halloween type candy, but it must be wrapped. People interested in donating to this campaign are asked please not to donate money — only candy. Special "Trick or Treat for NJNP!" bags will be available to interested youth through their schools or at our Chapter House.

The candy will be collected at the Chapter House where everyone is invited to bring the surplus candy that youngsters collect on Halloween. The Chapter is located at 182 North Harrison Street, and is open weekdays from 9-4:30. Candy will be collected on Thursday and Friday, November 1 & 2 only. No candy will be accepted at the Chapter after that date. For further information, please call Mary-Ann Fazio, Youth Director, at 924 2404.

CRIME TO BE SUBJECT OF YMCA Series. Crime prevention will be the topic of a four-series program planned to begin at the YMCA-YWCA on Thursday.

The program is free to area senior citizens and is planned by the Y's, the Red Cross, the Council of Community Services and the American Association of Retired Persons who provide films, printed material and guidance in developing the program.

Two-hour sessions are also scheduled for November 1, 15 and 29 from 10:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. The series deals with those crimes that most concern older persons, combining films with local resource persons.

Topics, films and guests include: for October 25, street crimes; narrator, Janet Humes; film, Walk, Without Fear; guest, Sgt. Thomas Procaccino, Princeton Borough Police.

For November 1, burglary; narrator, Ann Honore, American Red Cross; film, Invitation to Burglary; guests, Frank MacGuire, Chief of Police West Windsor and Gerald Dollar, Director of Security, First National Bank of Princeton.

For November 15, criminal fraud; narrator, Reeves Black, A.A.R.P.; film, On Guard - Bunco; guest, Mr. Dollar; and November 29, police relations; narrator, Janet Pearson, Council of Community Service; guests, Michael Carnavale, Chief of Borough Police and Fred Porter, Chief of Township Police.

The program is coordinated with the school luncheons offered senior citizens which meet at 1 p.m. Those interested may sign up at the YMCA Office.

Real Estate Investment: For those more worried about inflation eating away at their savings than robbers or flim flam artists, a second four-part seminar will be offered on Investment in Real Estate October 29, November 5, 12, and 18 from 8 to 10 p.m.

Campaign Issues

control is still on people's minds," she says. "I've talked to many who want a 24-hour leash law."

She wants to refine Township procedures regarding things like sewer installations, or solving drainage problems, so that Committee can have more time to plan. As chairman of the Board of Health, she says, she's observed that problems could have been avoided with better procedures. She'd like to avoid situations she's encountered where one staff member will say, "That's not in my department," and so a problem goes unsolved for too long.

Sanford Reynolds, who's running to keep the one-year seat, finds Township residents deeply concerned about how the town's going to grow, and whether they can afford to stay here. "I'd like to see us push harder to find out where our county taxes are spent," he says, "and I strongly urge people to vote for the county government reform study, and vote for Princeton people to be on it."

On housing, Mr. Reynolds wants Committee to give "the greatest scrutiny" to the economic feasibility of the Planning Board's proposals, and whether they allow people to stay here after retirement and reduced income.

Who to vote for? Princeton is a town embarrassingly rich in talent and dedication. People in education, business, the law, for some reason like to ring doorbells and offer themselves, for a pittance in pay, as public servants.

The hours are long into midnight, and there is dreary home-work to be done on things that aren't very glamorous, like sewers and whether to tie up the dog.

But it gives back to the town and its people a little bit of what the candidates themselves feel the town has given them, and probably that's why they do it.

In a government of laws, existence of the government will be imperiled if it fails to observe the law scrupulously. Our government is the potent, the omnipresent teacher. For good or for ill, it teaches the whole people by its example. Crime is contagious. If the government becomes a lawbreaker, it breeds contempt for law; it invites every man to become a law unto himself; it invites anarchy. To declare that in the administration of . . . law the end justifies the means . . . would bring terrible retribution.
—Justice Louis Brandeis, 1928

"There it was, naked: the belief that the President reigns and rules, that loyalty runs to his person, rather than to law and institutions. It is precisely that concept of power against which Americans rebelled in 1776, and that they designed the Constitution to bar forever in this country. It is, in fact, a form of power that no English Monarch has exercised since George III." —Anthony Lewis, New York Times, Oct. 22, 1973

Why it is necessary to impeach President Nixon And how it can be done

The Constitution establishes a delicate system of checks and balances between the judicial, legislative and executive branches of government. If these "checks and balances" fail, our freedoms and our democratic system could easily be replaced by an autocracy.

Richard Nixon has left no doubt, and he means to function above the law. If after all the Watergate revelations, we allow him to continue, we are accomplices to that destruction.

Consider what has already happened:

● On several occasions, President Nixon has asked over national television, that Watergate be "left to the courts," and on August 22, 1973, he assured us he would obey a final court decision.

● On October 12, 1973, Mr. Nixon was handed that decision. He responded last Saturday by contemptuously announcing, he is above the courts, and by firing the special prosecutor hired to assure the American people that Watergate would not be "swept under the rug."

● On July 23, 1970, the President personally approved the "Huston plan" for political surveillance by such methods as burglary, wiretapping, eavesdropping, mail covers and spying on students by the CIA and other agencies. These methods were employed against dissenters, political opponents, news reporters, and government employees.

● In 1971, the President established within the White House a personal secret police (the "plumbers"), operating outside the restraints of law, and engaging in burglary, illegal wiretaps, espionage and perjury.

● While Daniel Ellsberg was facing trial, his psychiatric records were burglarized by White House aides and, at the direction of the President, a White House aide discussed the directorship of the FBI with the judge presiding over Ellsberg's trial.

● Private detectives were hired by White House aides to spy on the sex life, drinking habits and family problems of political opponents.

● Supporters of possible presidential opponents of President Nixon were marked as "enemies" on a special list, and targeted for harassment by the Internal Revenue Service.

● During three days in May 1971, over 13,000 people were illegally arrested in Washington, D. C. The dragnet arrests, unprecedented in American history, were declared unconstitutional by the courts. To justify the arrests, a White House spokesman, William Rehnquist, invented the doctrine of "qualified martial law."

● In 1973, the President bombed Cambodia, a neutral country, without the authorization of Congress. We learned later that he had been bombing Cambodia for three years and had deliberately concealed the bombing from Congress and from the people, thereby usurping the war-making powers of Congress. When the deception was revealed, the President said he would do the same thing under similar circumstances.

● The President has transformed grand juries into instruments of political surveillance and harassment, and caused politically motivated indictments to issue.

● The President has attacked the freedom of the press, and subjected news reporters to illegal wiretaps and harassing FBI investigations.

The doctrine of "inherent" power

Richard Nixon is not the first president to violate constitutional rights and he will not be the last. But no president has ever before systematically claimed that the Bill of Rights, which limits other government officials, does not limit the President or his agents.

When he wiretapped in violation of the Constitution, he claimed an "inherent" power to do so.

When he secretly bombed Cambodia, he claimed an "inherent" power to do so.

When he directed the dragnet arrests of thousands of demonstrators in Washington, he claimed an "inherent" power to do so.

If the President is permitted to use the doctrine of "inherent" power to override the Bill of Rights anytime he pleases, civil liberties can be cancelled at whim.

The President of the United States should symbolize our system of individual rights under law. He sets the precedent for future presidents.

To preserve and protect our system of individual rights under law, to restore the integrity of the Bill of Rights for us and our children, and to make the lesson clear to all future presidents in whose hands we place our lives, Richard Nixon must stand trial before the Senate. If he does not stand trial, what he has done will be done by others.

How to impeach President Nixon

In order to stand trial before the Senate, where a two-thirds vote is necessary for conviction, the President must first be accused by a majority of the House of Representatives. This accusation by the House is called impeachment. Impeachment itself does not result in the removal of the President. Like an indictment, it merely begins a trial. Impeachment is what the House of Representatives does; the actual trial is held by the Senate. We believe such a trial must take place, however unpleasant.

The country can withstand the resignation of the Vice President.

The country can withstand the impeachment of the President.

The country cannot withstand a system of presidential power unlimited by the Bill of Rights.

If you believe that President Nixon should be brought to trial before the Senate for his violations of civil liberties, join the campaign for impeachment. Make your voice count in defense of the Bill of Rights.

Write your Representative in Congress in support of impeachment. And, if you are not yet a member of ACLU, please use the coupon to join. We need your help in this extraordinary campaign for impeachment and in the day-in day-out defense of the Bill of Rights.

Get US out! Of The United Nations

To The Congress:

We respectfully urge that all members of both the Senate and the House take appropriate measures to abrogate our country's membership in the United Nations. And we submit below a partial list of considerations which support this petition.

SOME REASONS FOR WITHDRAWAL

1. The United Nations was founded by Communists to serve Communist purposes.

2. The most important officials of the United Nations have always been Communists or Marxists who were working visibly and entirely for Communist aims.

3. Today the United Nations is completely controlled by Communist influences and outright Communist personnel.

4. The Communists are our deadly enemies who openly boast of their intention to subject the American people to the same form of tyranny now suffered by the people of Soviet Russia and of mainland China.

5. The Communist tyranny converts every country under its rule into a gigantic prison, which offers security of an impoverished sort at the cost of all freedom. And the secret police become far more brutal than the wardens of any normal prison would ever be.

6. The economic system of Communist countries is based on the philosophy of scarcity, while the American system has been based on the philosophy of abundance. Our design calls for a million salesmen to market the too much, where the Communist practice calls for a million ration clerks to divide the too little.

7. Life within these Communist countries is so shoddy, miserable, and hopeless that countless thousands get themselves killed, or sent to the horror of slave-labor camps, every year, just for even thinking about escape or revolt.

8. It is the obvious purpose of the Communist bosses, whom George Orwell called the Inner Party, and who now are sometimes called the Insiders, to use the United Nations as the initial framework for extending this cold-blooded Communist tyranny over the total population of the earth.

9. And the longer we stay in the United Nations, the closer we come to the same fate as that of so many nations already behind the curtains. So we say Get US out!

The United Nations ideology . . .

10. The UN has completely adopted the ideology, purposes, methods, and Aesopian Language of the Communists as its own.

11. In this system of "morality," for instance, whatever helps the Communists is good, no matter how foul the action might be by civilized standards. And whatever sets back the Communist advance is immoral.

12. When the UN sent its "peace-keeping force" of cruel mercenaries into the Congo, for example, to destroy the very stable, peaceful, and comparatively prosperous state of Katanga, and thus to bring all of the Congo under Communist control, these mercenaries engaged — on direct UN orders — in the bombing of civilian hospitals and ambulances, and in spreading death and terror as widely as they could. This action was "good," not "evil," because the terror helped to carry out Communist plans.

13. Also, the highest UN officials lied brazenly to the whole world about what had happened until (and even after) the forty-six civilian doctors of Elisabethville, who had lived through the reign of terror, unanimously testified to the truth. Veracity, on the part of the UN officials, would in this case have been considered by them as "immoral," because it would have been harmful to Communist designs.

14. To the United Nations heirarchy the word "peace" means, as it always does to the Communists, only one thing. And that is, for any area, a situation where there is no opposition to Communism. Otherwise, in their rationale, there would be no peace, but only strife or potential strife, until the Communists had subjugated the people. (which they always call "liberation.")

15. So all of this drive for a huge military "peacekeeping force" for the UN is a deceptive fraud. What the UN really seeks, and the Insiders of the Conspiracy are seeking for it, is to have enough land, sea, and air armament turned over to it, primarily by the United States, to serve as a sufficiently powerful international police force to achieve and maintain peace — meaning a complete subjugation of the people to Communist rule —all over the world.

16. In less tangible but even more serious areas of concern, there exists the same subservience of the UN to Communists "principles" and purposes. The Communists seek to weaken, and then eliminate the three basic human loyalties: loyalty to God, loyalty to country, and loyalty to family. The UN appears to move even further towards a final goal by seeking to destroy — or to subvert to its own uses — all religion, all governments, and all traditional human institutions.

17. The truth seems to be that the United Nations is operating as the tool of a Master Conspiracy. It is patiently using subversive longrange strategy, through every conceivable form of dirty tactics, to lower the moral, economic, and military strength of the United States down to the level of the leading Communist nations. So that, in accordance with the well known master plan of the Conspiracy's Insiders, the United States can be "comfortably merged" with Soviet Russia and all the others, under the United Nations as a one-world Communist regime.

18. And there is no practible way to offset the separate effects of all the UN's deception, pressure, and propaganda to that end. The only real answer is to pull our country completely out of this phony pretense of a "parliament of man," and stand on our own feet again as to our own beliefs and purposes and principles.

The present outlook . . .

19. The United Nations is not getting any stronger today. But, perhaps partly for that very reason, it is getting more audacious, and therefore more dangerous to the United State.

20. The UN is engaged in a continuous, lying, and vicious effort to destroy altogether the anti-Communist nations or governments that are left anywhere in the world. Outstanding examples are Portugal, Rhodesia, and the Republic of China on Taiwan.

21. But the UN continues to welcome as new members such incredibly murderous and foul Communist regimes as East Germany and Red China — the latter in flagrant and brazen violation of its own charter.

22. Because of the size of Red China's population, it may be normal and permissible for Peking to maintain a staff of about three thousand people as its UN delegation in New York City. This means three thousand Chinese Communists whose suitcases cannot even be opened by American customs officials. It also means the end of all problems on the part of Chou En-Lai in connection with transporting his enormous quantities of heroin into the United States.

23. The United Nations headquarters in New York City are known to be also the very headquarters for Communist espionage operations in the United States. And with Red China in the UN this situation will become tremendously worse. Why should we be so stupid as to help our enemies in every way that we can to weave the rope with which to hang us?

24. And why pay for it all besides? We have one vote in the UN General Assembly out of 135. Yet a two-thirds voting majority of that General Assembly can be formed out of nations which, all together, pay only five percent of the UN budget. While in one way or another our country finances about forty percent of the total expenditures of the United Nations and all of its worldwide agencies. Why should we be so stupid? Especially since all of that money is being used by the Communist United Nations, directly or indirectly, for the purpose of destroying the independence of our nation and the freedom of our people.

We have only scratched the surface of the reasons why the United States should revoke its membership in the United Nations. But even on this basis we earnestly plead with you to Get US out!

Respectfully and sincerely,

Having fun is the Danish way of life. Eating and drinking, walking, swimming, just plain living: in Denmark these have become a fine art. But the Danish people are clever people. To visit their country is to appreciate their craftsmanship on things like silver, furniture, ceramics, textiles, and of course, the fine Danish glassware. A land of castles and make believe, Denmark still manages to be both modern and up-and-coming, a really exciting stop in your travel itinerary.

There are many interesting countries to visit. Make your plans through WELCOME ABOARD, 29 Witherspoon Street . . . Scandinavian people are warm, friendly people of great character and surprising good sense. Make this the year to see for yourself . . . Call 921-3350 . . . Open daily, 9-5:30, Saturday, 10-2.

HELPFUL HINT: Keep a notebook record of your expenses: you'll feel better about where the money went!

PRINCETON OFFICE
One Palmer Square 924-0095

EAST AMWELL — 20 minutes drive from Princeton. This small estate with it's streams, trees, lawn and cozy 3 bedroom 2 bath Cape Cod is just waiting for the right family to come along and love it as it's present owners do. There is a new family room, living room w/native stone fireplace, add a formal dining room, with lovely views of the valley and mountains from every window. Can be bought with 6 acres or owners will subdivide and sell the house with approximately 3 acres. Property should be seen to be appreciated. $76,900

PRINCETON BORO — 2-Story, 4 bedroom, 2 bath older home in desirable section of town. Very substantial construction makes this house worth the renovation it requires. Lovely old shade trees, walk to University and shopping $49,900

NESTLED IN THE TREES is this unique 5 bedroom contemporary ranch featuring 20'x40' heated indoor swimming pool and sauna. Secluded on over 1½ acres, this Princeton address home is perfect for entertaining and family living. $135,000

UNIQUE VICTORIAN — Hopewell Borough — Now a 2 family home. Excellent Condition. Provides you a residence and an income. Immediate occupancy. $54,900

WEST WINDSOR OFFICE
Princeton Hightstown Rd. Princeton Junction 799-1100

FAMILY FUN — Great home for a growing family! This well-kept West Windsor Bi-level combines a good price with a good location. 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, living room dining room, eat-in kitchen, family room, central air, large screened-in back porch, fenced-in back yard and more for $56,000

NEW LISTING — 3 bedroom, 2 bath Rancher in quaint village of Dutch Neck. Featuring entry foyer w/built-in planter, living room w/brick fireplace, dining el, modern eat-in kitchen, laundry room, rec room in basement and garage. Many closets. Intercom system throughout the home. $56,500

VICTORIAN? This home in a small village recalls a more peaceful era. It has the high ceilings, the large fireplace, the big, old trees and room for a growing family. Move in and escape the tensions of today. You will have the calm of yesterday and still be in a choice community with fine schools and neighbors. $69,900

HOME FOR THE HOLIDAYS — here is the perfect home in West Windsor. It has everything — 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, full basement, double garage, a log burning fireplace in the panelled family room! This is a home for gracious living, but best of all, it is in walking distance of the trains and the superior West Windsor schools.

PENNINGTON OFFICE
Rt. 31 and W. Delaware Avenue 737-3301

EARLY AMERICAN — colonial nestled amid towering shade trees with a long lane entrance. Paper and paint are all that is needed to bring out the sparkle of 5 bedrooms, 2½ baths, random width flooring, living room and parlor. It's quiet living in Hopewell Township on large plot of land at $110,000

EXCELLENT CONDITION — are the two words to describe this 2-story colonial in Lawrence Township. Excellent location for shopping, schools and church. Excellent floor plan includes dining room, family room, 3 bedrooms and 1½ baths. $46,900

BEFOE THE TURN — of the century, this handsome colonial stood on the tree lined streets of hsitoric Pennington Boro. 4 bedrooms, 1½ baths, 2-car garage. Huge backyard that will delight the horticulturist.

BUY OF THE WEEK — imagine 5 bedrooms, 3 baths, warmly panelled family room with a view. Solid construction. Move-in condition. In shelter of tall trees. Village locale. Immediate occupancy. ALL FOR $45,900

WHY LIVE ON THE LAKE?

Because you can . . .

Watch the crew races from your own balcony;

Moor your sailboat at your own lake-front bulkhead;

Launch your canoe from its own cradle under the house and travel all over the lake;

Feed the ducks and the geese;

Enjoy a view from every room in the house;

Have the kind of privacy usually found only way out in the country . . .

A wonderful four-bedroom house — the kind almost everyone wants to be a guest in! $125,000

Calvin Coolidge once said, "The ownership of a home, the feeling of independence that comes with the possession of a bit of the earth are among the most powerful incentives to high civic interest and usefulness." If you're in the market for a new home, there is no time like the present to begin looking. Homes have never been so attractive, and real estate values are on the rise. You'll find out just what Mr. Coolidge meant!

Homes of every description are among the current listings at WALTER B. HOWE INC., 1 Palmer Sq. (924-0095), Pennington (737-3301) & W. Windsor (799-1100). Open 9-9, Sat. 9-5, Sun. 1-5. Qualified Staff willing to assist you in all phases of your real estate endeavor.

VOL. XXVIII, NO. 34 THURSDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1973 15c At All Newsstands

Traffic, Housing, Future Growth, among Issues in Quiet Campaigns

Although the local election campaign is drowsy to the point of torpor, there are signs that the Princeton community is merely hibernating and will be wide-awake and shouting in about a year.

The dormant issue—consolidation. Three of the four Borough candidates report that citizens bring it up spontaneously without being asked. Those who bring it up are, almost unanimously, opposed. The interesting point, of course, is that candidates themselves say they haven't mentioned it as a "vote-for-me" issue.

What are Princeton's issues in this ho-hum campaign?

Traffic and its noise, say Borough candidates of both parties. In the Township, where formerly hot issues like public housing have been cooled by events, all four candidates report citizen concern with how the community is going to grow in the next 20 years.

In both communities, candidates say, people are uneasy about Princeton's schools, a frustrating situation for a political candidate because municipal governing bodies don't have a say in handling school problems.

Trying to sort out the Republicans and the Democrats this year is an interesting puzzle:

"I want to continue pressing for consolidation," declares Democrat Jay Bleiman, candidate for re-election to Township Committee.

"I am strongly in favor of consolidation" declares Republican Everett Garretson, running against Mr. Bleiman for the three-year term.

"I am opposed to consolidation." says Republican Robert Pols, candidate for Borough Council.

"People feel this consolidation study is being pushed down their throats and they think they were sold a bill of goods on school merger. For myself, I made sure no candidate for that consolidation study committee had any preconceived ideas," says Democrat Martin Lombardo, running for re-election to Council.

Ellen Peterson, Democrat running for the one-year seat on Township Committee, emphasizes "systems" problems in her campaigning, stressing the need for better management of Township government.

Her running mate, Mr. Bleiman, says the new way of handling the municipal budget, inviting the public to comment as the budget is being hammered into shape, is more businesslike than the old way and says he likes "very sound business procedures."

And running in opposition, Mr. Garretson cites his experience as a businessman and his knowledge of business methods as an asset.

Although it's easy to find common grounds for agreement (all candidates, incidentally, stand sternly and four-square in favor of better playgrounds), there are differences of course.

Joseph Moore, for example, running for re-election to Borough Council on the Democratic ticket, says "I support the consolidation study committee. The information it presents must be precise, accurate and easy to interpret We must make sure Borough residents get the most accurate information possible on consolidation."

Housing is, to Mr. Moore, "the central and most important question." He sees many Borough residents denied "the right of ownership" and observes that "part of the American dream is to own a piece of land. Does a Borough resident have a chance NOT to be a life-long renter?" he asks.

He links housing also to the larger question of employment and the kinds of jobs open to people in Princeton. "The frightening thing is, we're moving fast toward a professional community and if you're not one, your chances for surviving here are minimal."

Mr. Pols and his Republican running-mate, Margaret Penick, want to make use of existing houses for public housing, acquiring them "as we can."

Mr. Lombardo favors a joint housing effort with the Township, "using Township land," for low-middle housing. He finds Borough residents "strongly supporting" housing in the center of town for all age groups, particularly
